U. S. RED CROSS IS FACING REAL TEST ON RELIEF

Chairman Explains Machinery in Long Communication to Senate

OUTLINES DROUGHT AID Says Purpose of Organization Is to Relieve 'Needs, Not Losses'

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—(CPA)—Before the present winter is over, the efficiency of the Red Cross as an institution to relieve individual distress will be the crux of the whole problem of relief legislation.

The Hoover administration is staunchly fighting the "dole" idea of government charity on the fundamental principle that it is not the business of the government to lead money to individuals, or to grant financial assistance.

The issue has been disposed of once in the Senate, but it has come up again in the Senate with the proposal to add $15,000,000 for loans to farmers in the drought area. Senator Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, is the proponent of the idea and he points to the conditions in his state, where a few days ago 500 farmers were reported to have stormed the business section of a small town and demanded food.

Protest from Arkansas Congress has heretofore been urged to leave the relief of individual distress to the Red Cross, but the Red Cross service there has not been adequate. This led John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, who was formerly secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President Wilson, to send a lengthy exposition of the Red Cross machinery in a communication to the Senate appropriations committee.

"Drought relief, according to Mr. Payne, is being financed locally by donations of cash and supplies. The points out that the purpose of the Red Cross is to relieve "needs, not losses" and that every encouragement is given to an individual to find

COMMISSIONER BACKS HOOVER RAIL STAND

Washington.—(CP)—President Hoover's actions in connection with the proposed consolidation of eastern railroads into four trunk lines were defended in the House today by Chairman Fowler of the Interstate Commerce committee.

The chief executive saw further delay in reaching an agreement as against the public interest, he said, and urged the railroad heads to take a plan for unification to the Interstate Commerce commission.

He denied Mr. Hoover had approved any detail of the proposed consolidation and asserted the commission was not to be influenced by Mr. Hoover's action.

The speech answered contentions brought up in attacks which had been made in the House recently by Democrats on the president's actions in connection with the consolidation.

BILL TO MODIFY JONES LAW UP TO PRESIDENT

Washington.—(CP)—The Stobbs bill to modify the Jones dry law passed finally today when the House agreed to minor Senate amendments. It now goes to the president.

The measure has the approval of the Wickersham commission and Attorney General Mitchell. It sets up a category of minor offenses involving less than one gallon of liquor.

It fixes a maximum penalty of $500 fine and six months imprisonment for first offenders. The measure is an outgrowth of the Wickersham proposals to relieve court congestion, and permits juryless trials of minor liquor offenders. No record vote was taken.

Lingle Murder Solved, Officials Claim BIRTH CONTROL DENOUNCED BY POPE

GANGSTER HELD AS SLAYER BY CHICAGO COPS

Several Witnesses Make Positive Identification of Suspect

Chicago.—(P)—A solution of the mystery of the murder of Alfred E. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, has been reached, authorities claimed today, with the arrest of Leo Brothers, a St. Louis gangster who was identified by several witnesses, they said, as the man who shot and killed Lingle last June 9. The identification, they said, was positive.

Brothers, it was revealed by Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state attorney's office, was arrested by three detectives last Dec. 21 in a Chicago apartment after he had been trailed to 13 different cities. He was known in Chicago as Louis "Buster" Bader. He denied he killed Lingle, but admitted, Roche said, that he was wanted in St. Louis for the slaying of John de Biasi, a service car driver.

"This man will sit in the electric chair for the murder of Alfred E. Lingle," Roche told newspapermen. "I'll stake my official reputation on that. If he is not the killer, then Lingle is still alive."

Neither Roche or State's Attorney John A. Swanson, however, would reveal if they had uncovered the answer to the all absorbing question in Chicago crime in recent years, namely, "why was Lingle killed?"

There was an unofficial report that the investigators have been working on the theory that the Tribune reporter was put to death because he had incurred the enmity of gamblers whom he had harassed. Now, however, the officials give out a list of the names of the persons who made the identification.

Delve Into Mystery This information, Roche indicated, would be withheld until the facts of the mystery are more definitely determined. Roche was asked by a reporter if any higher-ups were being sought or any other persons.

And his answer was: "We have a lot of work yet to do. The capture came as the climax to a drama marked by suspense, violence, hope and dismay for the state, touched even by comedy at times.

Brothers' movements were known for days before his arrest but Roche wanted to avoid the wounding or killing of him.

AIRPLANE WRECK KILLS THREE MEN

Machine Crashes Into Clearing in Texas Woods as Fog Hampers Pilot

Marshall, Texas.—(P)—Wreckage of an airplane which bore three men to death was scattered today about a clearing in a densely wooded area eight miles west of this city, tortuous roads hampering an investigation.

The plane crashed in a fog yesterday, the second fatal air accident in a week in the forests of east Texas.

Arthur C. Brown, New Orleans pilot; Errett Williams of New Orleans, co-pilot, and Robert Wilson, 16-year-old New Orleans student who was returning from his home in Fort Worth, were the victims. The bodies, thrown clear of the wreckage, were brought here.

Three men were killed Sunday in a similar accident near Overton when their plane, lost in a fog, crashed into a tall pine.

Two New Orleans pilots, Marshall and Williams, were on the New Orleans-bound plane sputtered before the crash as if it was short of gasoline.

Reports received last night from Fort Worth said the boy's mother, Mrs. E. H. Carlton, was in a serious condition from shock. R. R. Wilson, his father, left New Orleans for Marshall as soon as he learned of the crash.

The plane was flying the Wedell-Williams passenger line between Dallas and New Orleans.

Brown was widely known in the south as a pilot. He formerly flew planes for the Davis air lines between Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala. Williams participated in Atlanta and Miami air races.

STATE BALANCE ON JAN. 1 WELL OVER 16 MILLION

Madison.—(P)—The state had a balance of $16,781,555.45 on Jan. 1, 1931, representing an increase of $3,328,952 over the balance of the same date a year ago, Solomon Levinson, state treasurer, said today.

General tax receipts for November last totaled $798,734.45, bringing the total receipts for the first 11 months of last year to $5,175,941.02. The receipts for November last year were $879,279.22.

Little Girl Fatally Hurt While At Play

Playing Indian proved fatal for little Patricia Dale, 5-year old daughter of August Dale, 624 S. Outagamie st., at noon today. The little girl fell about 10 feet from the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks to the street, below near the Junction hotel while attempting to follow her 10-year old brother, Leonard. Her neck fractured, she died shortly after reaching St. Elizabeth hospital.

The two Dale children, and several other youngsters were playing Indian on the railroad tracks on their way to St. Mary school. Leonard skidded down an embankment, and his sister, in attempting to follow him down a slippery path, became dizzy and fell. She was taken to the hospital by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill of the Junction hotel.

AUSTRIAN FASCISTS IN RIOT OVER 'ALL QUIET'

Vienna.—(P)—Mobs of Austrian Fascists, angered by showing of the American war film, "All Quiet on the Western Front," raged through the streets of Vienna last night and threatened major rioting.

Two thousand police were mobilized and beat back an attack on Urania bridge, which leads across the Danube into the Jewish quarter, where the offending theatre is located.

Austrian troops and members of the home guard joined with the rioters.

Mounted and foot police at times were no match for the rioters, whose demonstration began at the Prater, a popular park. Windows were knocked out of Jewish cafes and newspaper offices.

Order finally was restored at midnight after more than 100 arrests. Many were wounded.

GRAND JURY MAY PROBE OHIO PRISON TRAGEDY

Columbus, Ohio.—(P)—Grand jury investigation of the Ohio penitentiary fire which cost the lives of 320 men last April 1, appeared probable today.

Announcement that Franklin County officials were contemplating a new inquiry into the disaster was made after a conference with state investigators yesterday, which marked the first time the state and county have joined hands in an effort to learn the cause of the fire.

County officials were acquainted with the mass of evidence collected by State Fire Marshal Roy R. Gill and his aids. This evidence, expected to be used as a basis for the county's probe, but it was said the grand jury will not be asked to return indictments unless it is made certain that convictions can be obtained.

MAYOR HOAN SCORES POLITICS IN CHICAGO

Chicago.—(P)—Politics in Chicago, declared Mayor Daniel Webster Hoan of Milwaukee before the Kiwanis club today, "stinks so bad we can smell it clear up to Milwaukee. Clean it up."

Hoan said he knew the job could be done because Milwaukee was cleaned up.

"Milwaukee," he said, "raised the wages of police, not because the men deserved it, but for the reason that it wanted a police department where underpay did not put a premium on dishonesty."

Hoan added that the city which fails to provide clean recreation for its boys and girls is only manufacturing "crime fodder."

OLD DOCTRINES OF CHURCH ARE STRESSED ANEW

Pontiff Assails Divorce and Offers Remedy for Existing Evils

Vatican City.—(P)—Birth control, trial marriage and divorce were scathingly condemned today in an encyclical of Pope Pius XI reaffirming the Catholic doctrine of the sanctity of matrimony. It was the first such expression of the Holy See on the theme in 50 years.

The encyclical, containing 16,000 words, drew upon the full sources of ecclesiastical authority for its precepts, which, mandatory on the faithful, the pontiff said he hoped to see accepted by all men.

He expressed himself as follows:

Birth control—Those practicing birth control the pontiff describes as "branded with the guilt of a grave crime." Abortion is termed "murder."

Divorce—The age old Catholic doctrine of the indissolubility of marriage for any reason whatsoever is reaffirmed.

Companionate marriage—Experimental marriage of any sort the pontiff utterly condemns.

Marriage—Its sacred, permanent character is reaffirmed by the holy father, who lists its blessings as children; conjugal fidelity and honorable obedience to matrimonial obligations.

Modern woman—She owes obedience to her husband but not at the sacrifice of dignity or to the point of obeying unreasonable requests.

Sex education—The Vatican condemns "exaggerated physiological education" although maintaining

STORM THREATENS MARK SET BY WOMAN FLIERS

Imperial, Calif.—(P)—Two anxious young women who have been flying around for nearly four days in a cabin monoplane soared over here today, waiting for a break in the weather to return to Los Angeles, where they started their flight to break the world endurance record.

The sooner Bobbie Trout and Edna May Cooper get back to Los Angeles, the better their hearts will be. They were forced to fly here late yesterday when a severe storm hit Los Angeles. If they are forced to land here, their flight, which at 9:30 a. m., had set a women's sustained flight record of 91 hours, will have been vain.

Daybreak in Imperial Valley brought rather murky weather but it was far better than that prevailing over Los Angeles, where heavy clouds intermittently showered rain. Despite this, the fliers announced they planned to return to Los Angeles about noon.

REDS STAGE RIOT New York.—(P)—A series of what the Communist sponsors called "hunger marches" culminated today in disorders near Salvation army headquarters in Brooklyn in which seven or eight alleged Communists were injured and two detectives scratched and kicked.

Chaplin And Carpentier Kidnaping Puzzles Police

New York.—(P)—The kidnaping of Lita Grey Chaplin and Georges Carpentier as they left a theatre puzzled the police today. Mrs. Chaplin said she was robbed of money and jewels.

Mrs. Chaplin, former wife of Charles Chaplin, and the one time heavyweight champion of Europe, told the police they were imprisoned in her limousine by four armed men, driven more than a mile and dumped out last night. Mrs. Chaplin said she lost $14,000 in jewelry.

As related by detectives, Carpentier met the actress at a Bronx playhouse at the close of her appearance and they entered her car in a dark alley near the stage door. Two men, appearing out of the gloom, pressed revolvers against the chauffeur, Faibert Frank, as he stood beside the car and two more crowded the occupants of the limousine. Frank then was forced inside and one of the hold-up men drove away rapidly.

During the ride Mrs. Chaplin became hysterical and one of the men quieted her, promising she would not be harmed. Another ordered

Power Body Nominations Won't Go Back To Senate

Hoover Won't Yield Even if Senators Vote for Members' Recall

Washington.—(P)—Friends of President Hoover expressed certainty today that he would not return the nominations of the three members of the power commission even should the senate vote for their recall on the motion now before it.

A vote was in prospect by nightfall on the motion of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, on the nomination of Chairman Smith and Commissioners Gasaud and Draper, approved just before the Christmas recess.

The violent determination of Mr. Hoover not to give back the nominations was taken at the capitol to foreshadow another disagreement between the chief executive and the senate. Enough votes to adopt the Walsh motion are claimed by its sponsors.

Senator Goff, Republican, West Virginia, who has led the administration fight in the senate, has contended that the senate is without authority in asking for the recall and reconsideration of the power commission nominations. He is a former assistant attorney general.

A proposal today by Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, to limit debate on the Walsh motion and to vote on it by 6 o'clock p. m., was blocked.

FIREMAN DIES AS RIPON HALL BURNS

City Truck Driver Falls Dead Loss to College Set at $55,000

Ripon.—(P)—A volunteer fireman, Edward Kopplin, 55, was dead today and a damage of $55,000 was estimated by school officials as the result of a fire that destroyed Smith hall at Ripon college.

Kopplin, a driver of a city fire truck, fell dead apparently from heart disease as the truck careened into a curb at the scene of the fire.

About 50 members of Delta Sigma Psi fraternity were made homeless by the fire and two of their number were injured slightly as they attempted to retrieve their belongings from the burning building.

ENGINEER ACCUSES DRY OFFICER OF ASSAULT

Milwaukee.—(P)—William Connors, Chicago, one of 75 prohibition agents imported for Tuesday's sweep, in liquor raids, was named today in an assault and battery warrant on complaint of William B. Bolles, civil engineer and former high school instructor.

Bolles charges he was held prisoner for two hours by federal agents in a saloon, and that Connors struck him twice while the agents were examining the stock of liquors.

The engineer was finally released with an apology from Connors, he said, when the woman proprietress of the saloon identified him as a chance customer.

DROUGHT BILL IS CENTER OF NEW FIGHT IN HOUSE

New Yorker Would Apply Extra Fund to All Persons in Distress

Washington.—(P)—Efforts of administration leaders to obtain consent to send the drought relief appropriation to conference under unanimous agreement failed again today in the House. The objection was raised by Representative La Guardia, New York.

The measure was increased to $60,000,000 by a Senate amendment to provide $15,000,000 for human food loans.

The New Yorker reiterated he would not consent to sending the measure to a conference with the senate unless the increased funds could be applied to all persons in distress instead of only to drought stricken farmers.

Republican leaders said they were determined to send the measure to conference without invoking special legislative right of way. The Democrats sought to have a vote on the senate proposal to conference, where the difference between the two branches might be eliminated.

To La Guardia's announcement he was willing to let the members of the House vote on whether the relief should extend to cities, or that it Representative Wood promised to fight for such a provision in conference, he, La Guardia, would "take his word for it," the Indianan reported that he "opposed the $15,000,000 food loan provision for any section of the country."

"There is organization in the city, and there is not throughout the country," Chairman Wood of the appropriation committee, added.

Then he asserted that "this thing staged out in Arkansas, staged for the purpose of confusion, was without foundation and the governor has repudiated it."

Jumping to his feet, Representative Parks, Democrat, Arkansas, declared that "the half of that has never been told. It was a movement among the starving people."

To a shout from La Guardia "were they radicals?" Parks replied: "Those farmers never heard of radicals. They are American citizens born and raised down there."

YOUTHFUL ROBBER GIVEN LIFE TERM

Homer Baldwin, 17, Sent to Prison by Kansas City Judge

Kansas City, Mo.—(P)—Homer Baldwin, 17-year-old Kansas City, Kas., boy was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Missouri state penitentiary today upon his plea of guilty to a charge of robbery.

Baldwin was described by police as one of a juvenile underworld here led by Everett Haldiman, 17, serving a life term in the Kansas state penitentiary for the murder of a Tyro, Kas., filling station operator.

An assistant prosecutor laid before Judge Clarence A. Burney, a signed statement attributed to Fern McNabb, who was arrested with Haldiman in Dallas, Texas. The statement said Baldwin had driven a car from which he and the 14-year-old McNabb girl watched Haldiman murder Price, bakery driver in a Kansas City holdup.

Baldwin denied the accusations in the statement.

"You appear an extremely cold-blooded young man," Judge Burney said in passing sentence.

POLICE SEEK SUSPECT IN SLAYING OF WOMAN

Chicago.—(P)—Police were today seeking William Moore, a former lover, as the slayer of Mrs. Jane Stevens, formerly of Kansas City, who was found strangled in bed in her killed apartment.

Moore, police believe, learned of Mrs. Stevens' intended marriage to George Nielsen, a foreman of the Letz Manufacturing company, Crown Point, Ind., and, angered over the news, entered the apartment and strangled her.

Nielsen, who was held today until the inquest, revealed that he intended to marry Mrs. Stevens March 17. Police believe Moore entered the apartment some time Tuesday night, strangled the woman as she slept, emptied her purse as a blind, then methodically rifled the drawers of the table and bureau.

MAYOR BREAKS 6 TO 6 TIE IN GARBAGE FIGHT

Says He Wants More Time to Investigate Hog-feeding Methods

BATTLE OF FIGURES Goodland Warns Aldermen He Will Vote No in Case of Tie

Bugbear garbage disposal crawled back into its log for a snooze until roused by another smudge when the motion to build an incinerator was lost at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night. The six to six tie was broken when Mayor John Goodland, Jr., cast his vote against the incinerator, supporting Aldermen Zarle, Groth, Kittner, J. Gillan, Richard and Vanderheyde. Aldermen Packard, Steinhauser, Thompson, Gmeliner, Wasserman, Vogt, voted for the incinerator.

After two days of haggling by the board of public works, a long session of the committee of the whole and open council arguments ranging from the financial situation of the city to charges of vacillating minds, the plan to start immediate negotiations to relieve the city's garbage disposal problem was lost.

Wants More Time Emphasizing that he is not opposed to an incinerator, Mayor Goodland took the stand that the council should defer definite action on a garbage disposal plan until the hogger method had been more thoroughly investigated. He maintained that in view of the city's financial situation the council has no right to spend $55,000 on an incinerator if there is a cheaper method. He felt that as long as the city had survived thus far without an incinerator for two months more of investigation would bring no serious results. He warned the council before the question was voted upon that he would vote no in case of a tie vote.

The mayor reported that 44 cities in the county of Los Angeles, Calif., are feeding their garbage to hogs and that according to a survey, more cities use the hogger method than incineration. He felt that the collection system should be started and the hogger method of disposal used for the time being, changing to incineration later if the hog method proved a failure.

Better and Cheaper Alderman Packard reviewed the problem from the time the question of garbage disposal arose, told of the inspection trip made by the committee, of the council's decision by a 11 to 1 vote to build an incinerator, of advertising for bids, of the questionnaires sent out to gather information on the comparative value of different plants and of the birth of the hogger idea. He presented figures gleaned from the compilation of reports to show that the modern method of garbage disposal, incineration, produces better results at lower cost than any other plan. He contrasted Racine, with an incinerator that destroys rubbish and garbage, with Madison, which feeds its garbage to hogs, to show that the former city, with a population in excess of 67,000, destroys rubbish and garbage at a cost of $33.20 a year, while Madison, with a population of less than 60,000, pays $64,000 to destroy its garbage, leaving its rubbish problem still unsolved.

He estimated, using an average taken from reports from 65 cities now operating incinerators, that garbage and refuse in Appleton could be collected for $32.5 a ton and burned for 75 cents a ton in an incinerator. Figuring on 20 tons a day, the cost of incineration, he estimated, would be $15 a day or $4,500 for a year of 300 days.

What About Bubbish Parading the ghosts of the dump fire and the cockroach plague, Alderman Thompson urged the modern incineration as the only method of ridding Appleton of a problem that has become obnoxious. He said he voted in favor of the hogger method four years ago, merely as a temporary measure at a time when the city could not build a modern plant. He counted it a personal display of consideration for the taxpayer to ask him to pay from 50 cents to a dollar a month for a service that could be given him for a dollar a year. His question about the disposal of rubbish if the hogger method were used remained unanswered.

"We'll dump our rubbish on the Tracy farm until the state board of health stops us and then what will we do?" he queried. "Such a method

ELKS OFFICERS MEET

Manitowoc.—(P)—Officers and trustees of the Wisconsin Elks association will meet in Manitowoc Sunday morning, E. W. McKee, president, announced today. Plans for the state convention at Sheboygan in July or August and for the Wisconsin delegation to the national grand lodge meeting at Seattle, Wash., in July, will be discussed.

Italian Ocean Flight To Brazil Claims Toll Of Five Lives

DETAILS MADE PUBLIC AFTER DAYS OF DELAY

Facts Are Withheld by Government Until After Bephani Celebration

Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, Africa—(AP)—The glory attained by ten Italian seaplanes Tuesday in their transatlantic flight to Natal, Brazil, and its price—five aviators were left behind dead and three were injured. Two of the 14 planes in the squadron were virtually destroyed.

Belatedly, official announcement has been made of the tragedy which attended one of the greatest victories over the elements in the history of aviation, the delay being due to the wish of the Italian government that rejoicing at completion of the flight and celebration of Italy's "Bephani," or second Christmas, not be marred.

As 12 of the planes, in formation of three, took off, one of the red group, piloted by Captain Reagno, crashed from a height of 100 feet. The sergeant mechanic, Luigi Poles, who was riding above the right pontoon, was killed and the two pilots and the radio operator were injured.

Calls Meeting

This is Hoke Donithen, Marion, O., attorney and secretary of the executive committee of the Harding Memorial Association, who has called a meeting of the committee to consider President Hoover's offer to speak at the dedication of the Hardings' $800,000 memorial but who is not at all excited by the offer. Donithen recently remarked that he "doesn't care if Hoover never dedicates the memorial."

MANY ISSUES HELP MAKE ROAD ROUGH FOR U. S. CONGRESS

Routine Measures Side-tracked While Debate Battle Is Being Waged

Washington—(AP)—Congress delved deeper today into all kinds of troublesome issues and routine legislation languished by the wayside.

The senate was up to its neck in debate on the proposal to reconsider confirmation of three power commissioners who already have taken office. The house had passed up plans for immediate dispatch of a larger deficiency bill which had come under attack for its prohibition provisions.

Hopes of administration leaders to kill in conference a senate approved $15,000,000 food loan fund attached to the $45,000,000 drought relief appropriation had received a set back in the house, through an objection to immediate appointment of a conference committee. However, a plan was advanced for attaching the $45,000,000 item to the deficiency bill when the house takes it up again. In that case the senate-amended bill should be left on the shelf.

Two committee sessions held the spotlight. Before one group of senators, Chairman Woods of the president's employment committee, was asked to explain relief needs and steps being taken to meet them, supplementing testimony given yesterday by Chairman Payne of the Red Cross. Before the senate campaign funds group, Treasurer Nutt of the Republican national committee, was called to testify on activities which have been linked with the Norris-Lucas feud.

May Recall Lucas
Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican committee, who yesterday told the senatorial investigators he had borrowed $3,500 from Nutt to help pay off a $4,000 note for personal financing of campaign literature—part of it went into Nebraska to be used against Senator Norris, Republican independent—was asked to stand by for a possible recall to the witness stand.

Payne told the senate appropriations committee the Red Cross was able to take care of the drought situation and had four and a half millions on hand if needed. The testimony of Woods was expected to be optimistic in tone.

However, the senate had heard more about the need for food loans through Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, and Heflin of Alabama, both of them visualizing danger of near-revolutionary conditions unless something were done.

Conferees of the senate and house planned to talk once more today about agreeing on Muscle Shoals. The senate demand for government construction of transmission lines to carry power to customers from the plant had brought from the house representatives agreement to authorize the lines but refusal to make funds available. This did not suit the senators who were pessimistic about an agreement and said they would break up the conferences today unless the house yielded.

Callahan Approves Of Teachers' Trip Abroad

John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, in a letter to A. C. Meating, county superintendent of schools, this week endorsed foreign travel as a means of education for teachers.

The state superintendent said: "I certainly think a good line of travel during the summer is fully as valuable and as broadening as six or more weeks spent in summer school. Were I acting as a local superintendent now, I should prefer to have the teachers take a trip like your European tour rather than attend summer school."

Mr. Callahan points out that the question of giving teachers credit for summer school or for travel is always decided by the local superintendent and school board. He said that it is quite general for school boards to grant the same credit for travel during the summer as they do for attendance at summer school. In Mr. Callahan's opinion travel is more beneficial than summer school.

This endorsement of Mr. Meating's educational pilgrimage to Europe for teachers next summer is the third of the kind. The other two were made by Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college and Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college.

Receive More Inquiries
Inquiries about Mr. Meating's proposed tour continue to pour in from all sections of the state. Already he has received more than 1,000 letters from teachers and their friends who want to go.

About 10 days ago arrangements were completed for taking cash reservations. The reservation plan calls for immediate deposit of $25, $50 more on March 1, and the balance on or before June 1. As the cash reservations are received they are filed in order of their receipt. Assignment of berths on trains and on the boat will be made in accordance with the date of reservation. Up to Wednesday about 200 persons had made cash reservations, and the number is growing daily.

The European tour will start from Appleton on July 7, 1931. The group will leave in special trains of sleeping cars with stops at Saint Ste. Marie and Montreal. A day will be spent in Montreal. Then the group will cross the ocean in chartered accommodation on the S. S. Minnedosa. They will land at Liverpool, England; proceed across England in buses through the Shakespeare country to London; spend five days in London with one full day of sightseeing; cross the English channel to Paris where five days will be spent with one day of sightseeing and another in an excursion to Versailles. Then the group will proceed to Brussels and to Antwerp, where the return journey will start.

The entire journey will last 34 days and will cost $249 complete. This does not include meals on the train and on Montreal.

Travel Guild, Inc., of Chicago, is conducting the tour and Soo Line, Canadian Pacific railroad and Steamship lines are being used.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR BARBER SCHOOL DINNER

Plans for the banquet to be given for Appleton Barbers' school were completed by the committee in charge at a meeting at Hotel Northern Wednesday evening. The dinner party is to be given at Conway hotel Monday evening, Jan. 19, it was announced. Speakers on the program will be Herb Heilig, director of Appleton vocational school; H. G. Noyes, itinerant coordinator of the pulp and paper industry, and Dallas Moser, instructor in the barbering trade.

57 ATTEND 2 MEETS ON CONTAGIOUS ABORTION

Fifty-seven farmers attended two meetings in the county yesterday at which the prevention and control of contagious abortion in dairy cattle was discussed. A meeting in the afternoon at the town hall, town of Maple Creek, drew 31 farmers, while 26 attended a meeting in the evening at the high school in Shiocton. This afternoon there is to be a meeting at Stephenville and tonight there will be a meeting at Five Corners. Tomorrow afternoon there is to be a meeting at the courthouse here. Dr. V. S. Larson, a medical expert with the state department of agriculture, was the chief speaker.

EDWARD DAILEY, 108, WAUPACA-CO FARMER, IS CALLED BY DEATH

Waupaca — (AP) — Until two weeks ago, his friends say, Edward Dailey, Waupaca farmer, did not need the services of a doctor. Today he was dead at the age of 108.

He came from Ireland to Milwaukee in 1840. He left Milwaukee and for several years worked on a farm near Wisconsin Rapids. In 1932 he married Miss Mary Quirk in St. John's cathedral in Milwaukee. Of three children born to them, two sons, one, Bernard Dailey, instructor at the State reformatory in Green Bay, survives.

ARRANGE FOR ANNUAL CITIZENS BANK MEET

The annual meeting of stockholders and directors of Citizens National bank will be held at 7 o'clock next Monday evening in the directors rooms of the bank building, according to L. W. Tuttrup, president. New directors are to be elected at the stockholders' meeting, after which members of the board will name new officers for the coming year.

REALTY TRANSFERS

George Welhouse to Richard C. Lamers, lot in village of Kimberly.

Dance Weds. and Sundays at Al's Dance Hall, Hi-Way 41, Cor. 9th and Racine, Menasha.

APPLETON YACHT CLUB TO PLAN NEW PROGRAM

The monthly business meeting of Appleton Yacht club will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening in the club rooms on S. Pierce-ave. Arrangements are to be made for a club banquet.

COUNTY BOARDS CAN'T LICENSE ROADHOUSES

Madison—(AP)—County boards cannot legally license roadhouses but may require licenses from dance halls, dance pavilions and soft drink establishments, the attorney general has ruled in an opinion to District Attorney Harold W. Hartwig, Wauwatertown.

THREE SEYMOUR BOYS FINED FOR LARCENY

Three Seymour boys were fined and cases against three others were transferred to juvenile court when they were arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Wednesday afternoon on charges of larceny. One boy, 22 years old, was fined $5 and costs, and two others, 19 and 21 years old, were fined $10 and costs each. Three younger boys, two 15 and one 17 years old, had their cases transferred to juvenile court because of their age. Further investigation is to be made of the charges against them.

The six were arrested by J. N. Decker, police chief at Seymour, and charged with breaking in a garage, maintaining a place to store a snow plow and truck. It was charged the boys stole 60 gallons of gasoline and eight gallons of oil from the garage.

FEDERAL-AID HIGHWAY PROGRAM SPEEDED UP

Washington—(AP)—Acceleration of federal-aid highway construction in 1930 was reported today by the bureau of public roads to have resulted in the largest building year in the history of the program.

The government paid to the states as its share on completed federal-aid work $36,355,000, an increase of about $19,700,000 over 1929.

The increase was attributed to the response made to president Hoover's appeal that the program be enlarged and the work expedited as unemployment relief.

The funds available on Jan. 1 for new projects aggregated $144,725,776 of regular federal aid road funds besides the recent emergency appropriation of $30,000,000 to be advanced to the states for use in matching the regular federal aid funds.

GREEN-BAY PLUMBERS GIVE SPEECHES HERE

Appleton plumbers held the fourth of a series of monthly meetings at Appleton vocational school, Wednesday evening, according to M. M. Hanson, itinerant instructor in the trade. A talk on salesmanship was given by C. R. Hange, specialist in repair work at Green Bay. William Van Schynede, Green Bay, demonstrated repair methods. Similar meetings are being held this week in Green Bay, Fond du Lac, and other valley cities.

SMILEY SEEKS SPEAKER FOR CHAMBER MEETING

M. D. Smiley of the First Trust Co. is making arrangements with a Chicago bank head to speak at the first of a series of monthly chamber of commerce forum committee dinner meetings at Conway hotel Wednesday noon, Jan. 21. The speaker and his subject will be announced later. The first meeting is being sponsored by the Kiwanis club, and Rotary and Lions club will be guests.

STATEMENT FROM BALBO

Natal, Brazil—(AP)—General Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, receiving newspapermen aboard the cruiser Malocello last night, told them that the success of the flight of his air squadron from Africa to Brazil had exceeded his expectations.

"Although two planes fell into the ocean, the crew were saved. Ten others arrived at Natal after a wonderful flight. Cruisers picked up the two planes, which ought to reach Fernando do Noronha, one today and the other tomorrow. After repairs are made they will fly either here or to Bahia.

"One plane was lost, probably as a result of a short circuit, and the crew perished. Another was left at Bolama in view of an accident to the motor but the crew was saved. (Bolama dispatches say the sergeant mechanic was killed.)

"The flight to Natal from Bolama was very difficult, because each plane carried 4,500 kilos of petrol, more than others which have made the flight, since we wished to have enough fuel to continue on to Bahia. During the night the moon was invisible because of heavy rains. There were clouds throughout.

Passed English Ship
"The flight of 37 hours was carried out, as planned, in formation, but the system is very difficult in view of the necessity of autonomy of the groups of planes. We passed one ship, an English boat, of which we asked our position.

"I am very content since the flight exceeded my forecasts of success. Accidents are inevitable in aviation. It is the first time that a squadron has flown from Africa to Brazil.

"I am very grateful to the Brazilian government and the Brazilian people for the reception given our squadron. We had hoped to leave Thursday (today) for Bahia, where we will remain three days, but we are deferring our departure so that we may participate in inauguration of the monument to Delaprete, transatlantic aviator who was killed in 1928 after a flight to Brazil."

General Balbo said he could not say what disposition would be made of the planes until the flight had been finished.

WOULD MAKE OLD AGE AID COMPULSORY

Schmiege to Propose Plan for State-wide Adoption of Pension System

Compulsory old age pension is provided for in a bill prepared by Oscar J. Schmiege, assemblyman from the first Outagamie-co district, for introduction in the state legislature when it convenes on Jan. 14. Mr. Schmiege's bill has been approved by the Appleton, state and national aerie of Eagles.

Under the terms of his bill all counties would be forced to grant old age pensions to those men and women who comply with the provisions of the law. The state would then partially reimburse the counties for funds expended in this manner.

Mr. Schmiege's bill also proposes to amend the present old age pension law, which makes it possible for counties to furnish old age pensions if they desire to do so. One of the sections which would be amended is that setting the amount of money which the state appropriates each year to pay its share of old age pensions. At present the state is restricted to $35,000 per year. Mr. Schmiege's amendment would provide $45,000 for 1932 and $50,000 per year, thereafter.

Another change, proposed by Mr. Schmiege, is to place under jurisdiction of the county court all old age pension matters. At present, under the law, it is possible for a person receiving old age pension to deed any property he may own to the state and the property is controlled by the state board of control. That body has full power to lease, rent or sell this property.

Under terms of Mr. Schmiege's bill, the county court would be given jurisdiction over such property. It is left to the discretion of the court to determine whether old age pension should be withheld unless the receiver gives a deed to his property to the court. In case the old age pension is stopped before the owner of the property has received the full amount in assistance, the law provides for a refund of any balance plus simple interest at 3 per cent. The new bill also provides for establishment of a "county-at-large old age assistance" fund. When an aged person does not have legal residence in any town, city or village, he can receive aid from this fund which is provided by a joint tax on the entire county. The state also must pay its share of the money expended from this fund.

The new bill would go into effect on Jan. 1, 1932.

ORDER SUPPLY OF GENERAL PULASKI STAMPS FOR CITY

Post Office to Receive 20,000 Stamps of Special Issue

A supply of 20,000 of the special issue of two-cent commemorative postage stamps to be issued in honor of General Casimir Pulaski, noted Polish patriot and hero of the American revolution, has been ordered by William H. Zuehlke, acting postmaster at the Appleton post office. The new stamps are to be placed on sale Jan. 16 at Savannah, Ga., Chicago, Gary, Ind., South Bend, Ind., Detroit, Brooklyn, Buffalo, New York, Cleveland, Toledo, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee. They will be on sale at other post offices as soon thereafter as possible.

Stamp collectors wishing first day cancellations of the two-cent Pulaski stamp may send a limited number of addressed covers, not to exceed 25 to postmasters at the above offices, with a cash or postal money order remittance to cover the value of the stamps required for affixing. Covers will be accepted from bona fide subscribers only, and each cover must be properly and legibly addressed, covers bearing pencil addresses will not be accepted.

The new stamp is the same shape and size as the regular issue and is printed in red ink. It has a flat dark border with beveled outer edge, slightly indented at the sides. On the border at the top in two lines is the wording, "United States Postage." In white faced Roman letters. In both lower corners in white bordered circles is the numeral "2" in white-faced Roman and above the circle in the bordering panel in white numerals are the dates, "1746" at the left and "1779" at the right.

Etching By Hall
Across the bottom of the stamp in a dark panel with white edges connecting the numerals is the word "cents" in white Roman lettering. In a central panel of oval form with a narrow white edge is the likeness of General Pulaski, pointing from an etching by H. E. Hall in 1871. In a white curved ribbon panel at the base of the portrait are the words "General Pulaski" in Red Gothic letters. Projecting from behind the central panel with their staffs extending to the upper corners are the

Tax Collection Period Extended One Month By Common Council

RESOLUTION BY WASSENBERG IS PASSED, 10 TO 2

Aldermen Decide to Give Residents Until Feb. 28 to Pay Taxes

The tax collection time will be extended to Feb. 28. The common council voted 10 to 2 Wednesday night to give the taxpayers the same privilege this year as in years past, rescinding its action of a month ago to impose a penalty of one per cent on taxes paid during February.

The resolution was presented by Alderman C. J. Wassenberg, who stated that taxpayers felt that the council was imposing an additional burden on an already difficult year by refusing to extend the tax collection period.

Arguing that the small home owner is actually paying for the relief of the large taxpayers by the extension of tax time, Alderman C. D. Thompson declared that some taxpayers seem to think the council is a Santa Claus who gives them 30 days more in which to pay their taxes, whereas a matter of fact the taxpayer himself is paying the penalty of an extended tax time. He estimated that the interest lost during February, and the extra help needed during the month of January, would cost the taxpayer about $3,000.

He admitted that this was a bad year to change the policy, but was entirely out of sympathy with adding another mistake to those of former years.

Alderman McGillan dug up his two-year-old resolution on the collection of taxes twice a year, declaring that the city has no right to collect a million dollars and then salt it away until summer.

Bus Permit Held Up
The recommendation of the street and bridge committee that the Wisconsin Michigan Power company be permitted to operate its buses over a route was referred back to the committee. F. F. Wheeler, appearing for the Fox River Bus company, charged that the new route, which will travel over College-ave, Oneida-st, Drew-st, Brewster-st, Erb-st, Wisconsin-ave, State-st, back to College-ave and Oneida-st, and on to S. Oneida-st, Fremont-st and S. Lavette-st, almost duplicates the present route of the Fox River company, that it will take buses over unpaved and narrow streets, and will serve the same territory and residents as the Fox River buses do.

Alderman Philip Vogt's argument in favor of the new bus route was that it will provide more satisfactory transportation to Roosevelt Junior High School for First Ward children, and that it will facilitate journeys from the north and east ends of the city to St. Elizabeth hospital. Without the necessity of a transfer from one company's bus to another at the College-ave Oneida-st intersection, a passenger could go from the north end of the city to the hospital for 5 cents where it now costs 15 cents, he contended. He also mentioned the Fox River company's appeal to raise its rate to 17 cents.

Alderman Van der Heyden reminded the council that this proposal of the Wisconsin Michigan power company may be an attempt to ruin the Fox River company's business, inferring that once this was done there was no assurance that the Power company's 5-cent rate would stay at 5 cents.

The petition of the Fox River bus company for permission to operate an intercity bus between Appleton and Neenah-Menasha, with a 10 cent fare on a half-hour schedule, was referred to the street and bridge committee.

Truckload Of Clothing, Food Sent To Indians

A truckload of food, clothing and other articles was taken to the town of Oneida yesterday afternoon for distribution among the 300 destitute Indians there. The Indians were found living in almost unbelievable circumstances last week when a volunteer committee visited the district to investigate conditions.

As soon as the actual state of conditions was recognized by the committee it appealed to citizens of Outagamie-co for help. The response has been immediate. The donations are continuing to come in, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk, a member of the committee. Mr. Hantschel is receiving the donations.

Other members of the committee are: Sylvester Eiler, supervisor from the Third ward, Kaukauna, who is receiving donations at Kaukauna; Fred V. Heinemann, county judge; P. R. Appleton, highway commissioner; George J. Schneider, congressman; and P. M. Garvey, Oneida town chairman.

Yesterday Mr. Hantschel received a check for $2 from an engineer in South Dakota. He said he read the story of the Indians' plight in the Appleton Post-Crescent and was anxious to do his little bit toward relieving the situation. The Outagamie County Chapter of the Red Cross has promised its cooperation to relieve the condition.

Mr. Garvey, Thursday morning issued a formal thanks from the town of Oneida and the Indians to the kind-hearted citizens who have made donations. He said that even though all the needy cases had not yet been taken care of, the donations are being received in such manner as to indicate that the serious conditions existing would at least be somewhat alleviated.

The Oneida chairman and the town board has undertaken the task of distributing the goods to the Indians. The town treasury already has been depleted extending aid to the Indians and an appeal to the federal Indian bureau for aid for the starving and freezing Redmen was denied because the Indians are no longer charges of the government.

Unless the volunteer committee had acted when it did and unless the response to their appeals had not been immediate and generous, Mr. Garvey said, he didn't know what would have happened.

Low Producers in Herds Are Boarders, Sell Warns Farmers
County Agent Points Out Need of Keeping Accurate Production Record

BY W. F. WINNEY
Shiocton—Thirty-five farmers assembled in the auditorium of the High School here Wednesday evening, heard County Agent Gus Sell and Dr. V. S. Larson, representing the state veterinarian department, proclaim the doctrine of economical dairy production as one of the last means of forcing living profits from the depressed condition into which agriculture was plunged over a year ago. The economical production urged upon the farmers for adoption involved the introduction of improved labor-saving equipment, cooperation, and business methods after the fashion of business men, pattern supplied by business men, manufacturers and corporations. Some of the improvement recommended by the speakers for adoption were the testing of cows for milk and butterfat production, and herds for contagious abortion.

The Shiocton meeting was one of a series of eight conducted by Mr. Sell and Dr. Larson in Outagamie county this week. So far all the meetings have drawn out representative groups of interested farmers. The remainder of the schedule of meetings is: Stevensville, Thursday afternoon; Five Corners, Thursday evening; county houses, Appleton, Friday afternoon.

BIRTH CONTROL DENOUNCED BY POPE PIUS XI

Pontiff Supports Old Church Doctrines in Encyclical Issued at Vatican

that the basis of happy or unhappy married life is laid in preparation during youth for matrimony.

Sterilization—No human agency has the right, the pontiff declares, to impair or destroy the generative function of the body. He advised, however, that persons to whom sterilization would be applicable not be married.

The encyclical brands all those indulging in contraceptive practices "with the guilt of a craven sin." Any circumstances such as health or economic conditions do not constitute an excuse, he maintained.

In support of his assertions the pontiff quoted St. Augustine, who in such cases called a woman "a mere mistress of her husband," and a man the paramour of his wife.

Stresses Teaching
The encyclical sets forth lengthily Catholicism's teachings against divorce and as a principal remedy for many existing evils the pontiff proposes fidelity to religious law, on which alone can be built fidelity to the marital obligation and to traditional church teachings.

While not mentioning sexual education, the pope discommends "exaggerated physiological education." He stresses at length the need for preparation for married life, declaring "it cannot be denied that the basis of a happy wedlock and ruin of an unhappy one is prepared and set in the soul of boys and girls during the period of childhood adolescence."

The encyclical asks adequate state laws touching upon the religious and civil powers should cooperate therein.

The pope's advice to the young is "choose a partner well." He advocates state aid for mothers, commenting, however, "we are sorry to note that not infrequently nowadays it happens that through a certain inversion of true order of things a ready and bountiful assistance is provided for the unmarried mother and illegitimate offspring, (who, indeed, must be helped in order that greater evil may be avoided) which is denied to legitimate mothers given sparsely, and grudgingly."

In Six Languages
The encyclical contains 16,000 words and is dated Dec. 31, 1930. Translations in English, Italian, French, German and Spanish were issued simultaneously with the original Latin text for the first time in the history of the papacy. The document is divided into three sections, first, covering the dignity of Christian wedlock; second, errors opposed to Christian wedlock; and, third, remedies for overcoming these errors. It is in the middle section that the pontiff is most vigorous and emphatic.

OUTWORN LAWS HELD HANDICAP FOR BUSINESS

Bankers' Chief Thinks They Prevent Supply and Demand Stabilization

Chicago—(AP)—Rome C. Stephenson, president of the American Bankers association, in discussing the background of business conditions, said today that outworn laws in restraint of trade had prevented comprehensive efforts to gauge production to consumption.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Chicago Association of Commerce, Mr. Stephenson warned that unless business men eventually solve the unemployment issue, solutions will be attempted by a government in which business men will have but a small part.

The present system under which each corporation aims to gear its production and sales according to its own ideas irrespective of the industry as a whole, he said, leads to dissatisfaction, human suffering, political upheavals and unwise legislation and is largely due to "our laws governing restraint of trade passed 40 years ago."

"Then there was fear, as well as possible real danger that retail prices would be unduly advanced, he said, adding that "now with science aiding invention, with checks of a thousand kinds, is there any real reason why men should not be permitted to regulate output to probable stable demand?"

The head of the bankers association asserted that economic forces and practices outrun legal enactments which frequently are restrictive rather than constructive.

Hard to Repeal Laws
"Most of us realize that the complexities of modern business and financial conditions have made it impossible to repeal laws which were once remedial but which have long since outlived its usefulness, is difficult to obtain."

He urged that manufacturers and producers give immediate attention to the problem of surplus in its relation to price levels, not alone as it refers to their own business, but to the industry of which their unit is a part.

Illustrative of how joint action among concerned agencies in similar lines is all but impossible at the present time, Mr. Stephenson cited the attempts of the petroleum industry to work out a program of conservation.

"Laws and regulations impede at every turn," he said. "In consequence there is overproduction, earnings in the industry have declined, stockholders have suffered reduced income and the future supply of petroleum is endangered."

First Television Play Is Broadcast From Station

Chicago—(AP)—Side-stepping sinister looking equipment, a small audience squeezed in between humming machinery in the control room of Station WJXP last night and watched from behind the scenes what is believed to have been the world premier broadcast of a synchronized eight-sound dramatic production.

The nerves of Broadway stars nearing a first night were not more taut than those of the trio, Irene Wicker, Vinton Haworth and Douglas Hope, who last night made television history in their appearance in "The Maker of Dreams."

The play, a delightful fantasy, portrayed Pierrot and Pierrette about to drift apart when the manufacturer of dreams finds them. Written by Samuel French, it was produced by special permission of the copyright owners and adapted to television by Haworth. The special musical score was composed by Sal Stocco.

The cue, "hey, you guys, ready?" marked the arrival of the important moment. Outsiders were ushered out with little ceremony. Chief Engineer William N. Parker of Western Television corporation began throwing switches as did C. P. Lonis in the control room. Lights blazed, machinery hummed.

"The Maker of Dreams" went on the air to be received by those with a television and radio combination set, the effect being a close relative to a small talkie, but not without many flaws as yet. The most disturbing is perhaps the horizontal bars across the image. But the experts say "give science time."

The shades of pioneers in motion picture production might have hovered in an eerie background of receivers and suspended microphones in the small, windowless room watching a new dramatic procedure take its toddling steps in technique and make-up.

Everything possible was done to outlast noise. The strings of the piano were muffled with felt pads. Wrist watches were taboo. The microphone, suspended overhead to keep it out of the picture, was pitched at such a high degree that a lady-like sneeze would have recorded like a dynamite plant heavenward bound.

Because the creak of shoe leather would have given the impression of artillery in action, the men played in stocking feet. The girl wore soft sandals. Their costumes were of starchless cotton. The soft rustle of silk would sound like a hen farm on the cackle.

The make-up presents a problem with its individual difficulties. Davis Factor, son of Max Factor, Hollywood make-up artist and make-up artist, came to Haworth's studio with it in rehearsal. Much has yet to be done along this line. Experiments to date showed that the best effects were obtained with a thick coating of grease paint with the eye-brows and mouth outlined in a brownish-red. The result seen in person gave the nation of a Halloween ghost gone pale.

YOUNG PIANIST ON TOUR OF U. S.

Jose Iturbi Will Appear in Appleton on Monday Evening

The proceeds of the last New York recital by Jose Iturbi, who will appear in Appleton Monday evening as the fourth number of the Community Artist series, were turned over to a fund for unemployed musicians.

Iturbi, who at the age of 33 has played all over Europe and South America, is making his first American tour this season. He made his debut in this country as a soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra, appearing Oct. 10 to 14. In November he appeared as soloist with the Cincinnati symphony orchestra, and in December he played with the New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra under the direction of his good friend, Wilhelm Mengelberg, with whom Iturbi has been collaborating since he was soloist four hours during the past season.

Born in Valencia, Spain, on Nov. 1895, Jose Iturbi studied in the conservatory of his native city, and at the age of 13 won first prize in piano. Leaving Valencia, he first went to Barcelona, where he continued his studies under the famous Joaquin Malats, then to Paris where he worked with the conservatory under Staub, graduating at 17 with first honors. In 1919 he took the post at the Conservatory of Geneva, head of the piano faculty, once held by Franz Liszt. He stayed there for four years and then began his concert career.

U. W. ALUMNI WANT GRID MENTOR FIRED
Three Charges Against Thistlethwaite; Little Also Will Be "Panned"

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Milwaukee Journal today said Herman Egstad, Madison, University of Wisconsin alumni secretary, had confirmed as "more or less correct" the newspaper's information on the three arguments of alumni representatives for removal of football coach Glenn Thistlethwaite.

The arguments, according to the newspaper, are that Thistlethwaite: "Is emotionally unfit to coach football," "Has a fine technical knowledge of the game but cannot impart it, and," "Is a poor judge of football material."

Mr. Egstad now has the report, which alumni first planned to print and distribute among Wisconsin graduates. It was later decided to await a meeting of the alumni on the athletic council, called for the Milwaukee Athletic club this Saturday. At this meeting the graduates will decide whether the report will be made public.

The newspaper said Mr. Egstad had confirmed its information that the report has no "set" attack on George Little, U. W. director of athletics, "although Little does come in for his share of the panning."

Looked ahead, Mr. Stephenson concluded that "as month succeeds month, inventories in America will be reduced, thus hastening the day when unemployment will give way to dismay and pessimism will retire before hope and buoyancy of spirit. Nothing so develops versatility and resourcefulness as hope; nothing so inhibits them as fear and its close companion, despair."

HOUSE APPROVES BOOST IN DRY AGENTS' RANKS
Washington—(AP)—Immediate increase of the prohibition bureau's staff of agents by 150 bore approval of the house today. The senate still must act.

The dry staff expansion, at a cost of more than $500,000, was provided in a deficiency appropriation passed by the house late yesterday. After it had turned down a two-day onslaught by the wet bloc under leadership of Representative Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland. One dry item, a $100,000 appropriation for prohibition publicity work, came out of the bill, however, at the instance of the appropriation committee itself, after various attacks had been made upon it. A similar item was taken out of next year's justice department appropriation earlier in the present session.

The Wickersham law enforcement commission yesterday suspended work for a week, just when it had been expected to put the finishing touches to its long-awaited report on prohibition.

Ought To Get $5 For Torn Pants, Casey Tells Council

It was all very embarrassing, but being public-spirited "Casey" isn't asking any redress for humiliated feelings. He just wants the price of a pair of pants, with 50 per cent knocked off for depreciation.

It all happened this way. "Casey" Jansen, president of the village of Little Chute and member of the Outagamie-co committee on poor, visited the city poor commissioner's office one day. Unexpecting he sat down. Unexpecting he arose. A tack had done his worst. The city nurse did her best with a safety pin and sent "Casey" on his way.

Last night a chair fell for a pair of pants, minus $5 depreciation. It was filed with the city by the Little Chute official, with a letter describing in detail the ignominy of walking out of city hall in a pair of trousers that had battled with a tack.

Last night was claim night at council meetings, so it seemed. Besides the trousers claim there were other requests for damages. Philip Kaufman asked $8 damage for a tire and tube ruined when his car skidded at the corner of Elm and Seventh-sts; Joseph Baubs asked $5 for cleaning a city sewer; Herman Kositzke claimed car damage to the amount of $10.70, the result of a collision with a city truck; Andrew Krause and Edna Whitman asked damages for fractured arms sustained in fall on N. Superior-st. and Alvin Braun presented a claim for $1.00 for a fractured leg received when he slipped on some ice on S. Outagamie-st. All claims were referred to the judiciary committee and the city attorney.

FARMERS DOWN IN ARKANSAS ARE DESTITUTE

Several Hundred of Them Did Demand Food from Merchants, Probe Reveals

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1931, By Cons Press
Little Rock, Ark. (CPA)—Several hundred hungry American farmers did demand food from the merchants of England, Arkansas, down the road 20 miles from here, on Saturday afternoon, on last week. The mayor, the state keepers, the farmers and the governor of the state, soon assure the visitor of that. However, there was no violence, no rioting, no real threats of trouble. As Mayor W. O. Williams explains, many of the heads of seven hundred and twenty-five families in the district, needing assistance, simply refused to go home until a temporary hitch had been removed and food distributed. This is the dramatic incident that is calling the attention of the country to a situation, found upon careful investigation to be amazing. It is not isolated. Officials advise that there have been somewhat similar demands from white American citizens in nearly half of the counties of the state. In each case the Red Cross is caring for needs, and it is emphasized on every hand that no one need go hungry in this drought-stricken area. Likewise, there is a brighter side to the picture, but that is another story. England, Arkansas, is in Lonoke-co the home of Senator Joe T. Robinson, minority leader of the United States senate. It is normally a rich farming section. But Jan. 1, at an executive session of the state drought relief committee, Senator Robinson told the meeting that men were hungry in his county, and that it was going to be necessary to provide food or there would be trouble. That provision has been made throughout the state, Dudley V. Haddock, executive secretary of the state drought relief committee, advises.

Feed 105,000 Now
The Red Cross now is feeding twenty-one thousand families, totaling one hundred and five thousand individuals. By February, according to William M. Baxter, Jr., manager of the midwestern branch of the Red Cross, this organization will be rationing fifty thousand Arkansas families, totaling two hundred fifty thousand individuals out of a total state population of one million eight hundred thousand.

The figures do not include unemployed in the cities. What happened to cause such distress was this: For over ninety days during the height of the summer no rain fell. Through week after week, temperatures ranged around one hundred or above. A corn crop, normally thirty-five million bushels, burned up. A cotton crop, normally forty million bushels, was ruined. The hay crop, third largest of the state's crops, was almost a total failure. A normal yield of one million four hundred thousand bales, third largest in the country, of cotton, shrank to eight hundred fifty thousand bales. The price contracted even more sharply and cotton that costs thirteen cents to grow is selling for less than ten cents a pound. Disaster which struck the one-crop cotton area, just emerging from the difficulties of the 1927 flood, may be imagined.

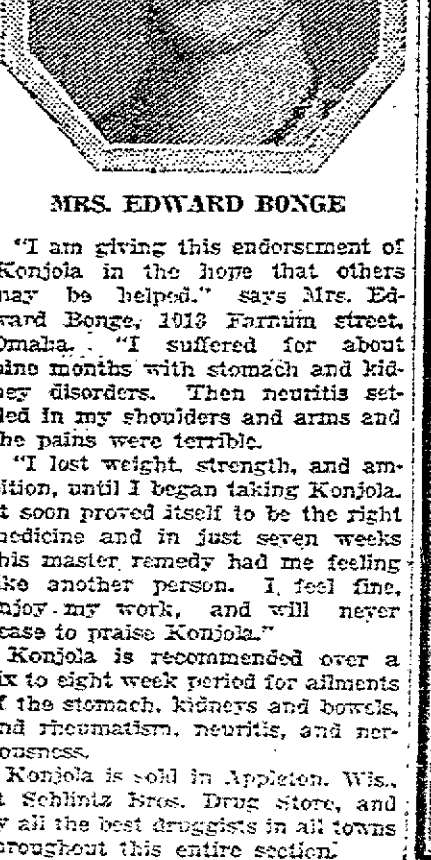

Call's Situation Bad
"This situation has developed slowly and there has been an apparent tendency to minimize the trouble," said Mr. Baxter. "It is worse than the one resulting from the flood of 1927, but few realize it."

"It is the most peculiar disaster in the country's history," explained Mr. Haddock. "It is impossible for people not in the drought area to begin to realize what has happened."

RELIEF CAME WITH KONJOLA
Kidney and Stomach Disorders Ended — Read These Words of Praise

MRS. EDWARD BONGE
"I am giving this endorsement of Konjola in the hope that others may be helped," says Mrs. Edward Bonge, 1013 Franklin street, Omaha. "I suffered for about nine months with stomach and kidney disorders. Then neuritis settled in my shoulders and arms and the pains were terrible. I lost weight, strength, and ambition, until I began taking Konjola. It soon proved itself to be the right medicine and in just seven weeks this master remedy had me feeling like another person. I feel fine, enjoy my work, and will never cease to praise Konjola."

Konjola is recommended over a six to eight week period for ailments of the stomach, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness. Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schindler Bros. Drug Store, and at all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

A hurricane, a flood or a tornado, all tell their story. This was insidious, creeping up after the crops had been ruined, to be followed by natural credit difficulties and the exhaustion of funds with which to purchase food. Actual want is only now beginning to be widespread. And Arkansas is only one of twelve drought stricken states. Yet a survey made by both the federal department of agriculture and the Red Cross shows that this is the hardest hit of the group, with Kentucky next and eastern Oklahoma third. The state legislature meets on Monday of next week. It is confronted by an empty treasury and at the same time by a survey made by T. Roy Reed, assistant director of the Arkansas extension service, showing that between twenty-five and twenty-eight million dollars are needed to finance the nineteen thirty-one crop, including eight million for seed, three million for fertilizer, nine million for feed for work stock and the remainder for human food to provide subsistence until the crop is harvested. For the actual feeding of destitute families, judging by present outlays, the Red Cross will expend well over one million dollars. The legislators are expected to petition congress for assistance. Said Governor Harvey Parnell last night in a telegram to Senator Robinson: "It is not contemplated that the legislature will be able to make any appropriations for drought relief as revenues will not permit."

Shortly after sending this telegram, Governor Parnell said to the correspondent: "The farming situation is critical in this state and how the farmers will be able to raise a crop next year without federal assistance, I do not know."

His message to Senator Robinson followed a re-assuring telegram sent by him to the Baltimore Sun on Monday night and which the governor said was "intended to inform them only as to acts of violence. You can appreciate the seriousness of having before the eastern public the idea that our people were looting and otherwise committing depredations." Then he added: "The people in the drought stricken areas must have continued help from the Red Cross and the federal government and additional appropriations for good and otherwise should be made to mitigate the misery now growing worse with all food gone and no winter clothing."

Complaints in August
Months of relief work already have been completed. Dudley Haddock, who as executive secretary of the relief committee has been in intimate touch with all developments, said that the first complaints of suffering of humans and animals, were received in August. Albert Evans, disaster expert for the Red Cross came during the latter part of that month and a survey was made. The Red Cross then purchased one hundred twenty thousand dollars worth of seed, which it distributed free to farmers without credit or money, for immediate planting. Turnips were the principal food crop provided. Rye and oats went in for forage. A light winter has been a god-send, officials say and the turnips and feed crops until now have kept hundreds of families from need of charity. Many Banks Fail
Following the custom, plantation owners were providing for negro tenants in the state's so-called "black belt" where most of the cotton is grown and where most of the distress exists. Then in November, a direct result of the financial troubles of Roger Caldwell in Tennessee, over fifty Arkansas banks failed. The number has increased since then. Thousands of plantation owners have found their credit gone as a result. Cotton is described as a credit crop. The producer borrows from the banks to meet the needs of himself and his tenants, paying his loans at the end of the season from the proceeds of his cotton. This year not only was the return from the crop less than the cost of production, but in many instances previous savings were frozen in closed banks. No new credit was available. Plantation owners found themselves unable to care for their negroes and the problems increased. General economic conditions also have been a factor by cutting the opportunity for winter work in other lines. That explains the demands of the farmers for food. All of those who have been in touch with the situation for months say that in all of the appeals for help, not a single request for charity has been received. Those seeking assistance want work.

SUPER-SPEED PLANE
Berlin—A super-speed airplane is believed to be under construction in the plants of the Junkers Company. It is thought this plane will be capable of making more than 500 miles an hour at an altitude of 40,000 feet. The secret of the speed lies in the high altitude which will offer little resistance to the plane. Rumors are that the plane will attempt to make a Germany-U. S. flight in six hours.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN
—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers. Adv.

Did your Child have a bad cold last week?
If your child had a bad cold last week, don't be content just because the child is no longer hacking and sneezing. A cold is bad enough, but a child that catches cold easily and often, needs attention. Half-sick, pale, run-down children do not have the strength to resist disease and throw off infection. The after-effects of a cold can be very serious. Start now to build up weight and strength. Father John's Medicine has been proved for over 75 years by countless mothers. It is used regularly by over 184 institutions and hospitals. It is a simple food medicine that supplies the vitamins that every child needs. Children thrive on it amazingly. Their appetite improves, their very food seems to do them more good. Pale cheeks gladden with health. Little bodies become strong and vigorous. Father John's Medicine is a combination of simple food elements, none of which could harm an infant. Because of its scientific combination of ingredients it brings all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form best suited to a growing child's needs. It is easily assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. It tastes good and contains no alcohol or drugs. If your child had a cold last week, start now with Father John's Medicine. Don't take needless chances when this simple aid will help build strength and vigor. All druggists have it. Adv.

THE CLARK DECISION
It is now over three weeks since Judge William Clark of the Federal district court of New Jersey declared the Eighteenth amendment had not been adopted in conformity with the provisions of the constitution. During that time his decision has been the chief topic of discussion everywhere in the country. Lawyers have given offhand opinions about it, other lawyers have written magazine articles concerning it. Even newspaper editors have tried their hands at legal opinions. Several other district courts have declined to follow it. One of the circuit courts of appeal has unanimously held that it is without merit. The public feeling is unusually strong that it will not be upheld. Indeed in the scores of articles that have come to desk about it even the most extreme wets have left unsaid any opinion that it will be upheld.

But there are indications that it will serve a more useful purpose even than setting aside the Eighteenth amendment however praiseworthy that might be. If it is not the law most people are wondering why it is not. There has been no attack upon the merits of its reasoning, the only attack being that it is not possible under the language of the constitution. It is a thing that should be but is not.

From 1804 to 1913, a stretch of one hundred nine years, we had no amendment to the constitution with the exception of the three which were born out of that sanguinary struggle known as the Civil war, so of course the part of the constitution having to do with amendments became loaded with dust and pretty rusty. It is fairly safe to say that no constitutional amendment will again be offered from congress to be sent to state legislatures but will be sent instead to constitutional conventions in each state organized for the sole purpose of dealing with the proposed amendment and that alone. To send the proposal to the state legislature is not to get such a direct expression of the will of the people. Most states like Wisconsin could not get a complete election of legislators short of four years because of our sixteen hold-over senators, enough to swing a majority either way upon almost any question. Constitutional amendments are important enough so that the body having to do with them should have nothing else to do and ought to be elected only for that purpose. Now we elect members of the legislature for scores of different reasons. Mr. LaFollette carried certain districts in which legislators favorable to Mr. Kohler were elected and vice-versa, the personal element as well as many other questions or matters of the day becoming involved.

So it is quite clear that Judge Clark has performed for the people of the United States, although it is but a collateral result of his decision, a service of a more noble kind than many others so denominated, because he has focused the attention of the people upon an important matter having to do with bringing the government closer to them and at the same time preserving its representative nature.

VENEZUELA CANCELS DEBTS
In these days of South American revolutions and possible bond defalcations, of large public debts, and of staggering burdens of taxation, comes the refreshing news in the financial pages of the New York Times that the United States of Venezuela is about to wipe out its entire external and internal debt. This is the only South American country that has not endeavored to float a public loan in this country. Its outstanding foreign debt is less than $5,000,000, these bonds being held in London. The bonds are to be paid and at the same time plans are under way to cancel the small internal debt. Since the establishment of the "Rehabilitation Administration" in 1909 the country has floated no loan either at home or abroad. Year by year since that time governmental revenues have exceeded the budget, sometimes by as much as 11 per cent. And in some years as much as 50 per cent of the annual expenditures has been expended on public works.

Venezuela has been singularly free from political turmoil and its administration affairs have been admirably handled during the past twenty years.

HAPPY PROSPECTS FOR 1931
Buoyed in spirits by the highly satisfactory business of the Christmas season just passed, businessmen of Appleton are entering the new year with happy prospects for at least normal prosperity. Reports from merchants generally indicate that if there is any serious depression in the United States it has not materially affected this territory. Their Christmas business in most instances exceeded their fondest hopes and more than a few merchants discovered, somewhat to their surprise, that their volume of sales even exceeded the peak of last year.

Since the first of the year there have been many indications that a general improvement in business all over the country is in immediate prospect. The changed condition will be reflected in Appleton as in every other center and Appleton will have the advantage of the flying start given by the Christmas business.

There is every reason for the business people of Appleton and its citizens generally to face the new year with high expectations. Informal surveys and applications for help have indicated that the extent of unemployment here is quite negligible compared with many other communities and every upturn in business lessens the number of persons out of work. The purchasing power of the community is but slightly impaired and with merchants doing a business that is quite comparable with 1928 and preceding years this community is in a position to strike out ahead as national business gets back on an even keel.

THE POOR POSTMAN
At least one business continues to prosper. Printers, artists and rhymers struggle with the ever increasing avalanche of Christmas greeting-cards. Year by year the broadsides multiply. North, east, south and west rain the holiday greetings, cast in wondrous hues and shapes, carrying their messages of good cheer to all but the unfortunate and harassed mail clerk who must sort and the postman who must deliver. Shuffled and dealt, of odd sizes and forms, they pass along the mail routes like a January blizzard drives the scurrying snow. Verily must the tired and haggard postman think that "wishing, of all employments, is the worst."

But those in the mail service, as they have shown upon innumerable occasions in the past, are good sports, gluttons for work and do not even waste a breath in complaint.

PROGRESS
Use your eyes and use your brain
Every day sees something new,
Someone finds a stronger chain;
Someone finds a way to do
This or that in quicker speed,
That or this in better style.
Somewhere for the things we need
Men are working all the while.
There is no such thing as best,
Progress keeps us on the move;
All that seems to meet the test
Somebody will soon improve.
Nothing's fashioned to endure,
Everything must pass away.
All that seems so safe and sure
May be bettered in a day.
Science throws the old aside,
Thinkers find a newer plan.
And when it is proved and tried
All the world is changed for man.
Just a thought and methods old
Are abandoned for the new;
Something else is being sold
Which a thinker learned to do.
Far from finished is the earth,
Far from done the work of man.
Future men will come to birth
Doing what we never can.
Not for long will life remain
In the old accepted groove.
Every record mortals gain
Soon another will improve.

Fossils of sea-going whales have been found in two localities in Michigan, one in the northern part of the state and the other not far from Ann Arbor.

It is reported that Germany is building an airplane designed to carry 120 persons and having a cruising radius of about 5,000 miles.
The sulphur-bottom whale is the largest living animal. Some specimens are 80 to 100 feet long and weigh about 100 tons.
A press that can exert a pressure of 2,000,000 pounds has been built to stamp motorcar frames from steel.

DDJA see it? Yeah, the Pacific coast states were hit by a wind, rain and snow storm which did no end of damage . . . what about that climate, huh? . . . and we have a hunch that they blamed it on Knute Rockne and Wallace Wade . . . and Milwaukee gets the biggest dry raid in history . . . what's the world coming to? . . . Milwaukee, tsk, tsk . . . and just when people are thinking that Wisconsin was out of the jurisdiction of Federal laws . . . what a blow . . . and a handless man received a sentence for forgery . . . his alibi looked good until it was revealed that he could write with his teeth . . . oh well, people have accused us of writing with our foot . . .

We note where a lady, 71 years of age, was sent to an insane asylum because she cut up $2,000 in paper money for a very crazy crazy quilt.
And thousands of people, who played the stock market with sums which make two thousand look like pin money, are running around loose.

It begins to look as though our little animal cousin the skunk were setting us an example. In the Detroit zoo are seventeen civilized polecats. Into their midst wandered three of their wild and uncivilized brethren. Did they endure the strangers like we endure some of the closely paralleled humans? Nope, they drove 'em out.

Ship the Body to Our Boyhood Home in Indiana

Maybe the C. E. will throw an ax or a chair at us for bringing this bit of unconscious genius to light, but we'll take the chance for the sake of our art. Note:

" . . . informal meeting of the common council . . . at the home of Mayor John Goodland . . . A dinner at 6:30 will precede the evening's discussion which will probably be devoted to the subject of garbage disposal . . ."

To Mayor Goodland and the council a severe task, tsk.

And speaking of the boyhood home, we bow our head in shame to note that Indiana is the home of the smallest baby born in years and years. One and a half pound, the little blessed event weighed.

It's all right to talk about the biggest ears of corn, the number of governors who have visited the penitentiary, and, such, but to break down and confess that Indiana is the home of the smallest baby. Again, a loud tsk, tsk.

It is noted—to bring up the duck question again—that duck hunters of eighty years ago carried shotguns which weighed sixteen to eighteen pounds. That was nice for the ducks, and we still have some left. But wait until hunters start using machine guns.

BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS
On Jan. 8, 1815, the last battle of the War of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain was fought at Chalmette, near New Orleans. After failing to batter down the American lines by a cannonade, the British, under Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Pakenham, decided to try an assault which was made the morning of Jan. 8. The British attacked with spirit but were met with such a heavy cannonade and with such a storm of bullets from the rifles of American troops, mainly backwoodsmen from Tennessee and Kentucky, that in less than half an hour 2,000 men, including Pakenham, were shot down, and the assault failed.
The American loss was but eight killed and 13 wounded.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

MORE HUMOR ON CATCHING COLD
We regular doctors desire no personal publicity, you understand, but we're rather keen on it nowadays for medical science. Accordingly you hear us sounding off regularly on the radio, in the name of medical society, and you read our stuff regularly in the papers, also by authority of our official medical organization.
Some of our stuff is dry, and some of it is humorous. Here is a blurb printed in the newspapers under the auspices of the New York Academy of Medicine, telling folks "How to Catch Cold." I started up eagerly when I lapped the title, but I found that the cook presumed as usual that you already have your rabbit.

The article is in characteristic style. It tells us at the outset that we have no scientific knowledge of the nature or cause of "colds." Then it dwells on the communicability or infectiousness of "colds." Finally it leaves us with the positive assurance that chilling of the body will bring on a "cold," and particularly if you get your feet wet.
The funny part, where you don't laugh if you're a dumb one, is that we Academy members admit we know little or nothing about the nature or cause of "colds," in one breath, and then in the next breath we warn you dumb laymen that we warn you probably get you if you go out without your galoshes on. In our publicity we are scientists and old women too. We have to cater to all tastes, you see.

Almost in the same editions comes the epochal announcement that the great "common cold" expedition which set out from Johns-Hopkins a year or two ago has discovered the cause of the "common cold"—somehow the cause is discovered annually—and the bulletins from the commander say it is a virus too minute to be visible thru the highest-power microscope. This is funny, too, when we remember that no one as yet has discovered or identified the "common cold." I mean no physician, health authority of scientific standing has ventured to define any disease or entity under that name. I am reasonably certain that the Johns-Hopkins people will not commit themselves so far, either.

You see, the doctors and others who are making a living out of the popular "cold" delusion prefer to let it remain as it is, vague, indefinite, adaptable to whatever purpose or predicament one has to meet.
In everyday practice even the intelligent patient is content to drift along with a tentative diagnosis of a "cold," while the doctor is wondering what ails him. And when the actual nature of the illness becomes manifest, the patient readily believes the "cold" has developed into whatever it may prove to be.

The scientific research workers have a much wider field for their activities as long as there are many different conceptions of the entity of "common cold." It would narrow their opportunities considerably if medical or health authorities were to agree on a definition of the alleged "common cold."
Then, too, as long as the thing remains obscure all the wise ones who are sure you catch cold from drafts, dampness and the like can carry on their arguments without fear of successful contradiction.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

When, Ah! H. A. W. L.
Dear Doc: Talk of cold trouble! To all hazards I carry gas masks for my fellow guests. Our back yard looks like a wrecked can and package factory—I've tried everything I find seductively described in the interesting pages of our best magazines. They cry, sweat, burn and smell to the zenith. Bathe them regularly three times a day and change sox as often—also keep eight pairs of shoes in perpetual motion, but it just ain't no good . . . (forville—not awful).
Answer—The one thing that will remedy the sishlahun, check and double check the bromidrosis, is not extolled in the important part of the mag. If it were you could't get it so cheaply. It is standard Formaldehyde Solution. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for instructions for the cure of excessive or odorous sweating of the feet. If this is too much trouble, then I can merely say here that one ounce of the standard Formaldehyde liquid may be put in a half pint bottle with enough water to fill the bottle and the shoe linings wet with this once a week, or paint the soles of the feet with it two or three times a week—always letting it dry thoroughly before putting on shoes.
Curvature
1. Is curvature inheritable? 2. What would you advise for this condition? 3. Will an operation straighten the spine? 4. Should a person with curvature marry? (C. R. C.)
Answer—1. No. 2. Consult orthopedic surgeon whom your family physician will recommend. 3. Operation not advisable as a rule. 4. Marriage is advisable if the person is otherwise physically fit.
At a party four of us boys had a contest to see who could drink the most water. I finished three-two other boys drank all in one drink 22 and 23 quarts, while I drank only two quarts. They held their while I did not. We are all athletic, 17 to 18 years old. What kind of stomachs have these fellows, to hold so much water? Mine seemed to cause terrible pressure until it came up . . . (G. F. E.)
Answer—It is ever so. In youth we want to subject the stomach to severe strains without any reason. When we grow older we want to, to coddle the stomach, with little more reason. This water drinking contest was a dangerous thing—there is real danger of a rupture or tear of the stomach from such extreme and sudden distension. Athletically inclined youths who like contests might put on the boxing gloves or have a wrestling match.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSCOCK
New York—Gigolos in taxi dance halls and hostesses on indoor golf courses are new variants of old occupations.
Women who lack dancing partners now may hire them in a Broadway dance hall at 15 cents a dance or three dances for 35 cents, just as girl partners are available to lone-some men.
The men partners are called "hosts" and are introduced to the women by one of the hostesses. If a couple of women want to dance, the host will put out the dances, taking up tickets for it, of course.
Dancing Men
The opportunities for acquiring gifts of jewelry and what not from the patrons are not so great as in the case of the more or less permanent gigolos that frequent the snootier hotel dance floors with their wealthy women friends. But there are tips and it's a job—which means a lot these days.
If a couple of women want a bit of luncheon or fat time dancing, but shy at hiring partners, there also are the Broadway tea rooms and chop suey dispensaries. Here they may pair off on the floor between sandwich and dessert, and many of them do. Mostly they are the plainer stenographers and shop girls who haven't much social life.
On the pee wee golf floors the men pay for the girl partners' rounds and the girls are given half the fee.
Companionship must be a bigger problem in this inhospitable town than we ever thought.
I also must tell about the Christmas party for the gamins of East Forty-ninth street.
The Midtown hospital, in the middle of the block between First and Second avenues, gave the party as a rather subtle effort to abate the constant playing of handball against the hospital walls, the din of street games and the chalking of the institution's bricks.
The matron of the hospital ventured out into East Forty-ninth street to get the names of children eligible to attend sea har party. She accosted several urchins who gave names reluctantly.
Gave Fake names
When she issued invitations, two-thirds came back undelivered.
Quiet inquiry elicited the fact that most of the kids—all of them six or under—suspecting that the matron wanted to cite them to the policeman on the block for rollerskating on the hospital's sidewalks, had given fake names.
The hospital tried another tactic. It employed a little girl in the block to report her companions' names and she brought in 200 of them. Again invitations went out.
They bore great fruit. The attendance at the party was not 100 per cent, but 300 per cent—and the hospital had to summon a policeman to tell some of the children who came from blocks and blocks away that they couldn't be entertained this year, that they'd be bludgeoned to another party on another Christmas.
The party was a large success and hospital attaches, although they didn't do any propagandizing, think it had a wholesome effect, because one little girl, as she edged out the door on her way home, volunteered a promise.
People's Forum
The Appleton Post-Crescent invites communications on subjects of general interest. The communications must bear the signatures of the authors as an evidence of their good faith, but not necessarily for publication. Anonymous communications should not be longer than 400 words.
Editor Post-Crescent—I am astonished that a man can be pained on the charge that he treated a sick man and the latter died a few days after the treatment had begun.
To be consistent, District Attorney Stadl should arrest and jail all Appleton's regular practicing doctors, for they have all lost patients soon after their treatment of said patients.
Or, if the real offense is "practicing medicine without a license," then the public is given to understand that the licensed doctors are "licensed to kill," as a medical friend of mine in Chicago is wont to remark.
In any case, the great State of Wisconsin is not showing her greatness when she persecutes a man for doing his best to heal the sick who, choose to employ him. On another count Wisconsin is at fault. She causes or permits certain doctors to force their treatment on unwilling persons as in the case of vaccination enforced at the behest of medical health officers, and too often with serious results.
A license does not make a doctor, nor does it protect the public.

is bound to be an unsanitary nuisance to someone and though we don't like to spend the money, the matter of health dictates a modern, sanitary system of garbage disposal."

Declaring that a municipality can always operate a system cheaper than individuals, Alderman Vogt stated that besides the inconvenience of private disposal of garbage, Appleton residents are paying far more now than they would under a municipal incineration system.

Alderman Vassenberg presented personal estimates showing that an incinerator could be operated for $11,500, a high estimate, while the hogery method would take at least $13,240 a year.

Agreeing with Alderman Packard Alderman Steinhilber added that the construction of an incinerator at this time would be right in step with the federal and state policy of construction to relieve unemployment. He said that money being doled out to unemployed now could well be used to put them to work.

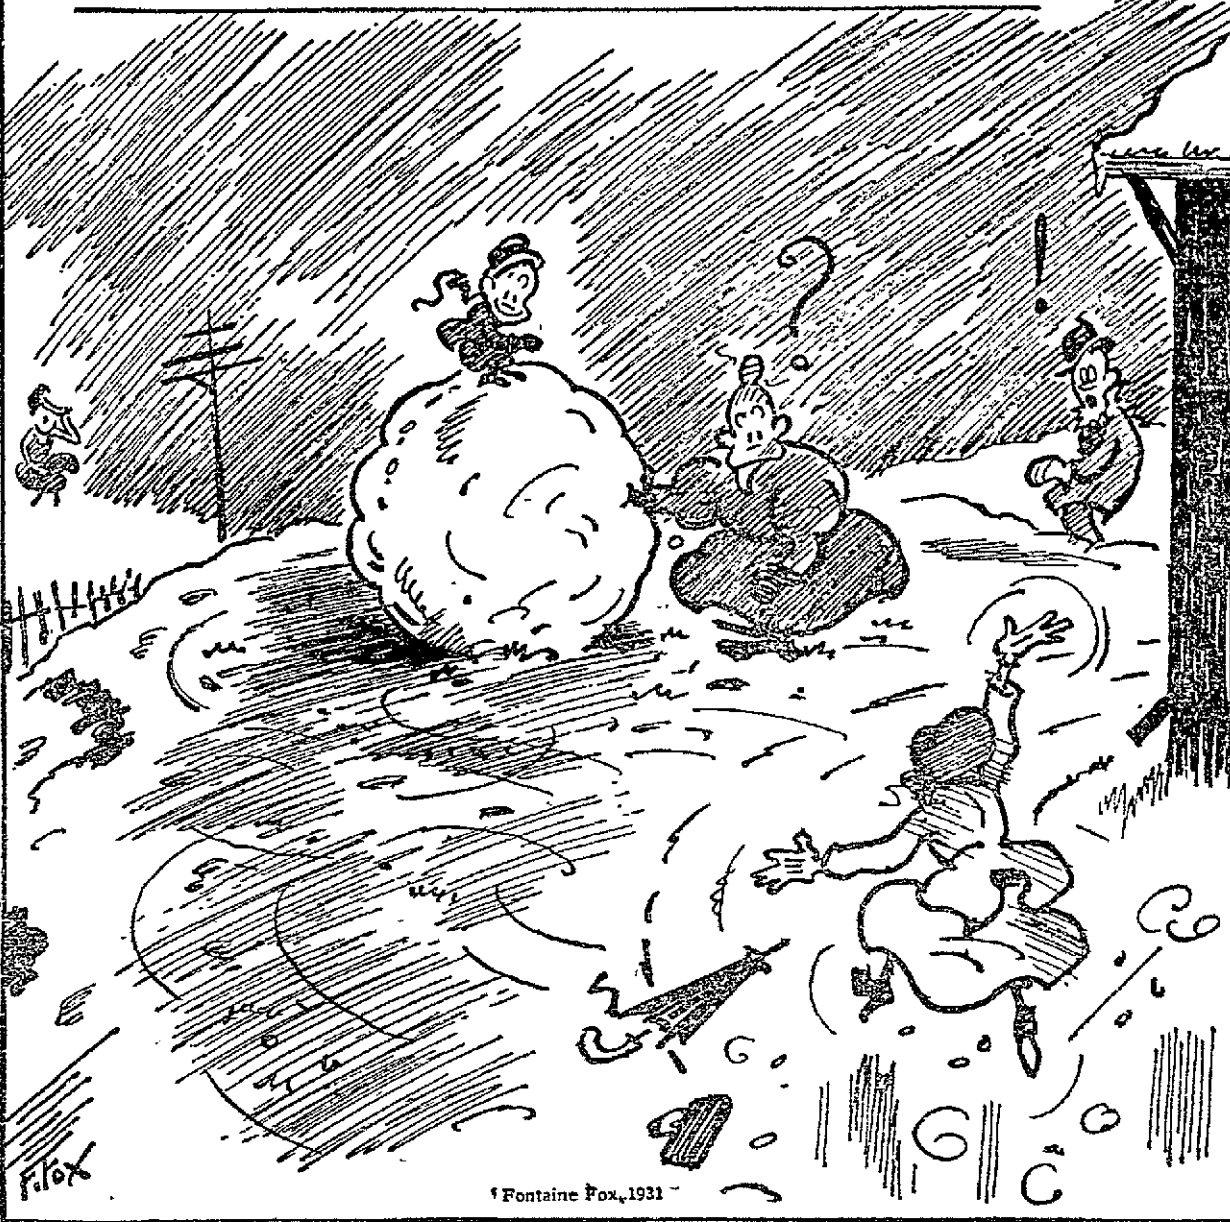

Alderman VanderHeyden, in the same berth on the incinerator question as he was four weeks ago, when he cast the only negative vote against it, doubted the popularity of the incineration method throughout the United States, presented an article from the American City magazine denouncing incineration and pointing to the city's sad financial status, backed the mayor's stand for deferred action.

Declaring that the council would be commended by the public more for saving $60,000 than for spending it on an incinerator, Alderman McGowan felt that this was a good opportunity to "hedge in" on bank loans. He also stated that he would vote against the incinerator because he wanted to support the mayor.

"I was as much for an incinerator in the beginning as any of you," he declared, "but if there is a cheaper method of garbage disposal, I agree with the mayor that we should investigate further. I voted with the mayor because I think we owe that support to the man the people have elected as their chief executive." He suggested that his policy of standing with the mayor might be a wise one for the rest of the council to follow. A few veiled insinuations, personal insults and pointed remarks about weak, vacillating minds and weak words of honor scattered here and there throughout the meeting occasionally struck fire in a room loaded with dynamite.

WATER PUMPAGE SHOWS INCREASE DURING DECEMBER

9,510,000 More Gallons
Pumped Than in Same
Month in 1929

There was an increase of 9,510,000 gallons of water pumped at the city filtration plant and pumping station during December, 1930, compared to the same month in the previous year, according to A. J. Hall, plant superintendent. During the past month 68,990,000 gallons of water were pumped and treated, while in the same month of the previous year 49,380,000 gallons were pumped.

Over 1,310,000 gallons of water were used last month to wash filters, while in the same period of the previous year 1,330,000 gallons of wash water were used. The amount of wash water used was 2.5 per cent of the total amount pumped last month, while in December, 1929, the amount of wash water used was 3.7 per cent of the total pumpage.

During December of last year the Diesel oil engines at the plant pumped 57,940,000 gallons, while in December, 1929 they pumped 47,600,000. The electric auxiliary units last month pumped 360,000 gallons, while

STATE BOARD SWAMPED WITH ANALYSIS MAIL

Madison —(P)—The state board of health today appealed to the public press: In an effort to stop the ceaseless flow of doughnuts, insects, household goods, etc., into the department for analysis.

"The endless series of packages from all corners of Wisconsin tend to make the parcel post a nightmare," the board complained.

The board stands ready to analyze drinking water but not food or insects. Pointing out that the cost of analyzing food or a compound liquid on a commercial basis costs from $200 up, Dr. G. W. Henika, assistant state health officer, said the analysis of these commodities was outside the province of the board.

First class mail also has its worries to the board. Recently there were letters bringing the following queries:

"Is there state aid when there are seven consecutive boys in the family?"

"How can I get in touch with a healthy, reliable man?"

"Can you send me a list of first names suitable for christening purposes?"

If sent prepaid in an official sterilized container, drinking water will be analyzed by the state laboratory of hygiene free of cost, the board said. Containers may be obtained from branch laboratories located at Deloit, Green Bay, Koshong, Oshkosh, Rhinelander, Superior and Wausau.

The Diesel engines during the past month utilized 5,041 gallons of fuel oil, while in December 1929 they used 1,554 gallons of oil.

WHAT A SHOCK!

Jacksonville, Fla.—Some of the city streets are without signs and that's the reason why a woman was caused to faint recently. A hearse drove up to her door and a man got out and walked up on the porch. When the woman came to the door

MACHINE TREE PLANTER

Washington—A machine for planting trees has been devised which does the work of 20 men. With the mechanical planter, two men can plant 10 acres in trees a day. The machine is something like an old-time tobacco planter. It has reduced the cost of planting in some localities about $5 an acre.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Keep Faith With Child, Says Expert

BY ANGELO PATRI

One has to deal fairly with children or lose their regard. One must keep faith with them or lose their confidence. It is a serious matter for a child to lose his confidence in a trusted friend, parent or teacher. He feels as though he had been cast adrift on an open sea. It is a shock that instills fear, suspicion, secretiveness. We are not careful enough about this.

"Oh, he is just a child," excuses many an adult to childhood. Excuses it to ourselves. The child is hurt and goes off by himself to hide his pain. He has no thought of excusing it. The confusion into which he has been thrown by a careless adult's betrayal leaves him no room for clear thinking. He feels abused and shamed.

A little lad of six wanted to carry a flower to his teacher each morning and his mother allowed him to do so. The teacher thanked the child effusively and put the rose in her hair. One morning she forgot the little lad was within listening and said to the teacher standing by, "Faithful Fido, brings me a rose every morning."

The teacher meant no harm. She liked the little attention and she was fond of the child. She was joking when she said it. But the damage was done. There are certain stages of growth that seem to be devoid of humor, devoid of proportion. We cannot ignore the condition and wound the child. We must be on guard lest we offend one of them.

A boy in his early teens was very close to his mother. He told her about his life in school, the one he liked best, the one he didn't like at all, what he thought of this one and that one, and what he was going to do when he was married. His mother listened gravely and respectfully to all that he had to say and discussed each incident as though she was concerned in it. The two were the best of friends.

Over a cup of tea one afternoon she told her intimate friend all about her son's little affairs. "He is a scream, my dear. I wish you could hear him telling me about Mary's eyes, how Helen uses too much powder and perfume, how Marie is the best dancer in the school, and how I won't even share a box of candy. He asked me the other day if I thought that a fellow ought to kiss a girl without being engaged to her. Imagine. And he is not seventeen."

"The boy happened... to get home early and was in time to hear his mother laughing at him, holding him up, as he thought to the ridicule of a stranger. He slipped out of the house and took a freight car for the west. 'I've left home. Don't look for me. Dave' was the only word he left behind him. Of course, he was brought home and the matter explained to him. But the confidence was lost. It could not be brought back so easily.

Over-sensitive children are easily hurt. It is safer to go on the idea that all children are easily hurt and be careful to keep faith with them. Sustain the mood in which they have placed you. They do not understand about any other just now. Respect their confidence and they will not withdraw it. Keep faith with them and they will draw upon it for sustenance in the trying days ahead. ## PLAINTIFF ON STAND IN DIVORCE ACTION

E. F. Miller, 903 E. Alton-st., whose suit for divorce from his wife, Dorothy, Appleton, opened in municipal court, Judge Theodore Berg yesterday morning, still was on the witness stand at noon today in his own behalf. Mr. Miller took the stand at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and has been on the stand ever since, reciting his story which he hopes will win his decree. He charges his wife is domineering, and has filed a counterclaim, charging her husband with being cruel and inhuman. Mr. Miller probably will be on the stand for at least another day, as the cross examination has not yet started.

CHANGE POWDER FOR AFTERNOON AND EVENING

BY ALICIA HART

More men have fallen in love with women because of their complexions than because of their beauty of character.

Powder and paint do not make the complexion. Of course you know that. But powder and rouge have a lot to do with enhancing the complexion!

It is some years now since all powder was pure, dead white or so-called flesh, a pinky pink. This winter there are such delectable choices as lavender face powder for evening wear—and don't think it can't do a lot for the blonde! Mauve and green powders do their bit, too.

Possibly the worst powder-mistake the modern woman makes is to merely say, "Brunette," or "Blonde," when buying her powder. It should be tried on, like a Paris gown. For though you may wear your Paris gown only of an evening and not every evening in the week, the powder that you buy you must live in and your friends must see day after day!

Generally speaking, the blonde and brunette category of powder is wrong. A blonde who wears a devastating in a deep rachel powder—the sultan mode demonstrated that—and a brunette may be ravishing in a powder far blonder in tone than rachel.

For daytime wear, the best rule is to choose a powder that matches your skin exactly or is a trifle, only a trifle darker in tone. The best place to match up is your cheeks just under your ear. The inside of the arm used to be the best spot to match powder to but so many women have sun burned faces and bleached arms that it no longer is considered exact enough for face-powder-matching.

You will need a lighter powder for evening wear. A fairer-than-the-skin powder for wear under the electric lights adds a glamorous touch of delicacy to your skin. It is for evening wear that most of the new colored powders are designed. If you have not tried the new colors, do. You may be surprised how pale blue powder, used with certain gowns and jewelry, gives your face an aesthetic, aloof look. Mauve makes you palid and delicate looking in the evening, especially if you happen to be a slender, willowy blonde. Mauve and natural mixed together in equal portions does the same thing for certain brunettes.

ENCOURAGE SAVING AS CURE FOR DESERTION

Washington — (P) — Secretaries Hurley and Adams joined today in recommending to congress a new method of discouraging desertion from the ranks.

The army and navy, they wrote, Speaker Longworth, encourage saving deposits from men in the service which are repayable on discharge, but are forfeited on desertion. These deposits are not liable for debts unless they be due the government.

"The army and navy chiefs urged that congress make the deposits exempt from government debts also. 'The purpose of' encouraging these deposits are to encourage saving and act as a deterrent to desertion," they wrote. "It is felt that a man is less apt to desert if he has funds on deposit which will be forfeited by desertion."

"On the other hand if the man knows that his deposit may be used as a set-off for debts due the United States he is inclined to draw his pay and spend it. The deterring effect on desertion is thus lost to that extent."

80 PICTURES ADDED TO RENTAL SERVICE

Eighty pictures which have been added to the picture rental service at Lawrence college, will be made available to students on Monday, Jan. 12. Sunday afternoon the pictures will be on display in the college library from 2 to 5 o'clock.

These additions to the picture rental collection were made possible by the gift from the Carnegie corporation last fall. A total of 130 pictures is now available to Lawrence students who, according to the plan, may select any picture to hang in their rooms at the nominal rental cost of fifty cents a semester. If the student desires to purchase the picture after having rented it for a semester, the rental fee will be applied on the purchase price and the picture will be sold for the amount it cost the college.

BRUCKER MAKES ECONOMY PLEA FOR MICHIGAN

Avoid Non-essential Laws, New Governor Asks Legislature

Lansing, Mich. —(P)—Observation of a "legislative holiday" from non-essential laws and regulations and devotion of its deliberations to the task of providing for more economical and efficient administration of the state's affairs were recommended by the 1st session of the Michigan legislature in Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker's message today.

The governor was emphatic in insistence that no new burden be placed on the general property tax, but rather, that every effort be made to reduce the expenditures from its revenues. Specifically, he proposed that the general property tax be reduced by $3,500,000 a year for the next two years by spreading over a four-year period the institutional building program for the biennium.

Two minor recommendations in the section devoted to taxation recommended repeal of the malt tax as difficult of enforcement and "not in keeping with the dignity of the state" and enactment of a rod license law for fishermen, thereby relieving the game fund and the general fund of support of the fish division of the conservation department.

He outlined a broad highway policy which has for its eventual purpose the elimination of the township as a road-building unit and the assumption of the burden jointly by the state and the counties. This change, under Governor Brucker's plan, would be put into effect over a long period of years and was recommended in the same section of his address in which he expressed unqualified opposition to diversion of a part of the motor vehicle funds for local highway use. "It is felt by most of those who are familiar with the problem that the township is too small a unit to efficiently handle our fast growing traffic," Governor Brucker said.

Wants Highway Fund

In order to start in the direction indicated, the governor recommended that a maximum of $2,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1932 and a maximum of $2,500,000 for the following year be set aside by the highway department to be apportioned to non-trunk roads in each township. The townships and counties would match the state funds and the roads improved would be taken into the new county-state system.

While opposing diversion of funds for local highways, the governor recognized that many city streets are parts of trunk highways and approved the policy of the past administration in assisting cities in widening projects.

Repeal of the arbitrary law which prevents the state from participating in bridge and grade separation and construction in cities of more than 16,000 population was asked in the message.

Present motor vehicle tax laws were held by the governor to be adequate, but a change in the regulatory laws providing for periodic registration and licensing of motor drivers was proposed as a safety measure.

In his discussion of the necessity of economy, Governor Brucker urged the legislature to "get back to first principles in cutting state costs." He commended to the law makers' attention the report of the special commission of inquiry into taxation, saying that "regardless of whether or not we shall find ourselves in accord with the findings and conclusions there reached, the report is entitled to analysis."

"Those recommendations which are in the interest of general economy in the administration of government are unanimously supported by the commission members and should have great weight in aiding your decision," he continued. "The recommendation which deals with a change in the system of taxation (income tax) is opposed by a minority report. Both should be seriously weighed."

The message made few specific recommendations, the legislature being told that additional messages on various subjects will be transmitted from time to time during the session.

In discussing the workmen's compensation law, however, the governor asked that an amendment making occupational diseases compensable be adopted.

The governor found no merit in objections to the adoption of an old age pension law, but warned the legislature that "any measure which you adopt must carry its own revenue-raising provisions."

A "crop law" designed to encourage selective cutting of timber "rather than the system of taxation which compels the slaughter of forests of immature growth with consequent return of thousands of acres of cut over land to the state" also was recommended.

Discussing crime conditions, the governor recommended three revisions of the law. One would make the grand jury a permanent institution in Michigan criminal procedure, rather than a special investigating body as at present. Another would define "racketeering" and fix penalties and a third would provide for graduations of behavior of convicts in fixing their "good time" allowances.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I CAN get you the stone by tomorrow night," the pawnbroker promised Corinne Becker in answer to her query as to how long it would take to secure a paste emerald for her. "Do you want me to deliver it?"

"Oh, goodness no!" Then Corinne caught herself. "I mean I'll come and get it. The real emerald is safe enough but I want this for a..... purpose."

Several times that morning Corinne debated as to whether it might not be wiser just to go to Harry and tell him the whole story. Something held her back. It seemed to be a slender, invisible wire that wouldn't let her move beyond a certain point.

"If I explain to Harry and he lets me go through with the trick he will see how contemptible Clifford is," she decided silently. "But supposing he believes Clifford? Only he wouldn't..... he couldn't..... But I can't risk it! I'll give Clifford the imitation and he can think I was the one that got stung. And it will be a better imitation than this. I'll let him see the two together—make him think I have access to the box—so he'll know I am not handing him back the one he gave me. Then he'll think I'm sending the other back to the safety vault."

She kept reminding herself of the $25,000 bail that her husband had put up for her father. He had been so kind, so understanding..... No, she would go through with the deal with Clifford and perhaps Harry would never have to know anything about it.

She stopped at the shop late the next afternoon and found the package waiting for her. She paid the man, not even minding the fact that her clothes allowance would be sadly diminished. Then she went home.

"Got it," Clifford asked in an undertone at dinner.

She nodded and turned to Harry, who was plainly worried.

"They're rushing this trial of your father's through too fast, Corinne," he said at last. "I saw him this afternoon and he looks pretty bad. The whole thing is criminal. And Sue looks like a ghost."

A chill small breeze fluttered in Corinne's heart. "Sue looks like a ghost!" Could Harry still cherish a lingering affection for her sister who had long months before promised to marry him, though loving Jack Thornton all the time? But he couldn't have loved Sue long. Corinne remembered the night when Harry had met her and they had slipped away for rides down long brown roads, worried, puzzled, hurt, wondering if there was a path to happiness for them. She remembered how tempestuously Harry had wooed when he had found that he was free and the secret of their elopement. But Sue needed a protector. She was the only one who had lost her position..... the princess who had been forced to leave the tower..... But Sue had Jack now..... There was an appeal to a damsel in distress.

Corinne decided that she would not tell Harry, now or ever, about Clifford's request.

After dinner she suggested that she would like to go home for a little while.

Harry settled down by the fire with a book, when they returned and Corinne wandered off to bed, wondering where Clifford was. She wanted to get the stone, imitation though it was, out of her possession. She had slipped into a rose silk negligee, dripping with ribbons and laces and turned out all but one light, when someone knocked at the door.

"Come," she called, thinking that perhaps one of the maids wanted something. But it was Clifford Becker whose greedy eyes stared back when the door opened.

"Hand it over!" he said jocularly. "Then I'll get out tomorrow."

But before Corinne had a chance to deliver the package the door opened again.

NEXT: Corinne explains to Harry. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

By Virginia Vane

NO DEFINITE RULE ABOUT WHAT SORT OF WOMAN WILL MAKE A MAN HAPPY.

Dear Miss Vane: I suppose you'll tell me right away not to butt into other people's affairs, but in this case I just can't help it. I have a young brother who means everything in the world to me. I have three other brothers who are all fine young men but they cannot take the place of Dick, the youngest. They all married nice girls who have made them good waves—all except Dick. Dick married a girl quite different from the rest of us. She is very pretty, very gay and enjoys parties and dances more than anything else in the world. She can be very sweet when she chooses, but she is not made of good solid dependable material like my other sisters-in-law. She is always teasing Dick and refuses to take anything seriously. Lately she has taken to flirting with other men and she keeps Dick worrying all the time about it. Of course he asks her what she means by acting in that way and she then makes up with him, and he is radiant, happy. I hate to see my brother being made a fool of. Whenever she gets angry at him she flirts with somebody else and that brings him to heel fast enough. But I think it's making Dick ridiculous. None of my other brothers have to bother about keeping their wives. Why should Dick have to give in just because he is pretty and silly? I should like to know what ought to be done about her.—VIOLETT.

Nothing ought to be done about her. She seems to be handling the situation to suit herself—and what's more she seems to suit Dick which is the main thing. How can you tell whether or not Dick's happiness is less satisfactory than that of his other brothers?

Are you going to state definitely that they are happier with their solid dependable wives than Dick's wife the young wife who is still so capable of making him jealous and worried and radiantly happy? You have no way of measuring another's happiness. You cannot judge what constitutes real marital joy.

Perhaps it fits you to see your younger brother so much in love that he is willing to sacrifice his pride occasionally in order to keep peace in the family. But you mustn't complain or criticize if he is satisfied with the result. How often we hear it said of a man that he is a miserably hen-pecked creature because he thinks first of his wife and of her likes and dislikes. And how often that man is a thousand times more satisfied with life than the big domineering male who has bossed his wife so long, and taken her for granted so easily that she is no longer a personality to him at all.

Perhaps the pretty young thing who flirts is just the sort of wife Dick needs to keep him interested and amused. Her methods would not work with every man. But they seem to be the right sort of medicine for Dick. So long as she is not making him miserable, don't let the situation worry you.

Don't imagine that all wives must be of the same pattern—or that the average, good, reliable, solid dependable creature would make every man you know happy. Very often the best wives in the world are perfect failures because they've tied up to men who would appreciate them more, if they had fewer virtues.

You've often seen the good honest patient long-suffering wife whose husband has never appreciated her. You've wondered why in the world such a woman couldn't hold a man's love through an eternity. Well, perhaps she could.

CHANGE PLANS FOR ADDITION TO CITY HALL

Council Expected to Let Contract for Work as Soon as Possible

Neenah—Slight changes in plans for construction of new quarters for the fire department and remodeling of the city hall were directed by the common council last night. The revised plans, it was indicated, will be approved at an early meeting, and contract for the work will be let as soon as possible. The cost is estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000.

The plans call for construction of an addition two stories in height on the east side of the city hall. The addition would have a frontage of 52 feet on E. Doty-ave and a depth of approximately 75 feet. The first floor would house the city's fire fighting equipment, while the rear would provide space for the ambulances and city nurses' car. A room for firemen would be located on the second floor.

A number of alterations are contemplated in the city hall proper. Rest rooms would be located on the Doty-ave side of the building, while voting booths would be located in the center. Police cars would be housed in the rear, with the entrance on S. Commercial-st. Police headquarters would be established in the south end of the building. The second floor also would be remodelled.

Addition of Brick
The addition will be constructed of brick to correspond with the city hall, with large arched doors and gabled windows. The Doty-ave front of the city hall also will be remodelled. The arched doors would be replaced with paneled doors and windows.

Tax Period Extended
A resolution extending the time limit for paying taxes to March 1 was adopted. Alderman Aylward suggested that taxes be paid twice a year, Feb. 1 and July 1, and the council agreed to allow people so inclined to pay taxes on July 1 as well as on March 1. Aylward, Bellin, Hanson, Harder, Martin and Stuart voted for passage of the ordinance, and Aldermen Freeman, Rasmussen, Schmidt and Stulp voted against passage.

Mayor George Sande, appointed a board of appeals composed of C. W. Nelson, engineer, for a term of three years; J. W. Hewitt, three years; Homer Hanson, two years; George A. Jagerston, two years; and Melvin Mace, one year.

The waterworks committee reported that the bid of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel company, for furnishing a 600,000 gallon water storage tank at a cost of $27,900 had been accepted by the waterworks commission on Wednesday afternoon.

The board of education reported that a special meeting Dec. 29, the Phelps-Weinman company had been informed to improve the recreation grounds at the rear of the new high school, and that lots 1 to 20 not occupied by the school be improved by the park commission and turned over to the board of education's supervision.

83 RECEIVING AID
Mrs. Effie Bishop, supervisor of poor presented her annual report which showed 29 families coming directly under the city's supervision. In these families are 83 people who are receiving city aid.

Alderman Schmidt of the board of public works, reported that over two-thirds of the cement retaining wall under construction between Theda Clark hospital and the Chicago-Northwestern railway bridge has been completed, and the sewer pipe to be laid behind the wall to give a better outlet to the Island sewer system has arrived. The C. R. Meyer company, which is doing the work, had been authorized to clear out the river bed in front of the wall and use the refuse for filling.

The finance committee reported on bills amounting to $24,761.01. The poor committee reported a total of $1,019.80 spent in that department during the past month, $510.08 of which was for county charges.

The mayor and all aldermen were present.

OSHKOSH APT TO LOSE COUNTY SEAT

Bitter Fight Over Courthouse Site May Result in Removal to Twin Cities

Oshkosh—A bitter controversy between Oshkosh citizens over a location for the new courthouse may result in this city losing the Winnebago seat in favor of the wealthy twin cities, Neenah and Menasha. The paper mill community, 12 miles north of Oshkosh, long has coveted the county seat and today it was reported that a secret movement has been started there to take advantage of the situation.

While Oshkosh has 47 per cent of the voting strength of the county, yet with Oshkosh hopelessly divided on four different sites and the voting strength of Neenah and Menasha concentrating on one site, there is no telling what the outcome will be, and to say the least it will be watched with interest by the entire Fox river valley.

PLAN ERECTION OF WARNING SIGNALS

Railroad Representatives Meet With City Officials on Safety Measures

Menasha—A recommendation urging installation of warning signals at railroad crossings in Menasha will be made to company officials by railroad representatives, it was decided at a meeting with Mayor N. G. Remmel and the street committee Wednesday afternoon. Representatives of the Soo Line and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific roads attended the session.

The recommendation will advocate installation of a double set of electric warning signals on the De Pere-st. and Appleton-rd crossings and single sets on the Plank-rd and Racine-st intersections. Work will begin within 30 days, it is expected.

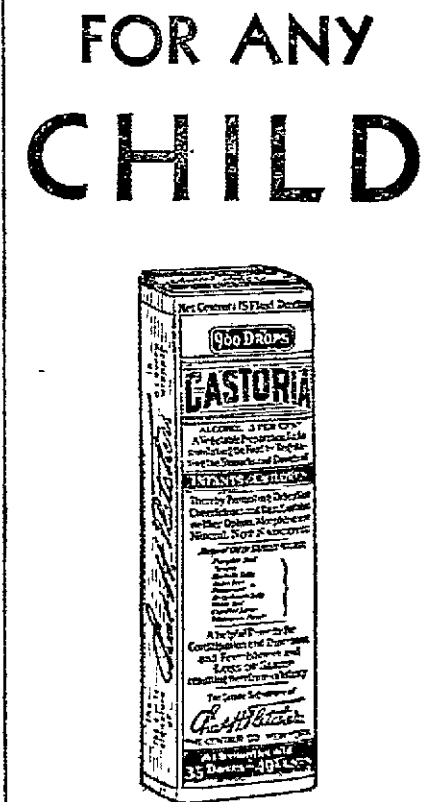

Safety measures on the Plank-rd crossing were taken last summer after action by the common council, but agreement on the proper warning signals had not been reached. A similar meeting with the mayor had been planned several days ago but railroad officials failed to appear at that time.

GEAR DARTBALLERS HOLD LEAGUE LEAD

Menasha—The Gear Darty Dart Ball team retained first place in National league standings after a hotly contested tilt with the Neenah Eagles' team in the Menasha city hall Wednesday evening. The Gear hurlers won the first two games, 8 to 3 and 7 to 1, but dropped the second pair, 9 to 2 and 9 to 8. In the fifth and deciding contest the Menasha dart throwers squeezed out 6 to 5 victory to take the match.

The Gear squad holds first place in league standings with 7 wins and two losses; a half game ahead of the Neenah Baptists, who have won seven and lost three. The Lewis Meats and Neenah Eagles are tied for third with six wins and four losses; the Electrotape team is fifth with five wins and five losses, while the Neenah Post Office is in the cellar with eight losses and a single victory.

FOR ANY CHILD

CHILDREN are happy and carefree by nature, so when they cry for no apparent reason any careful mother worries. No one can always guess just what is wrong but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as baby has a fretful spell, is feverish and cross and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes it's constipation. Just keep Castoria handy and give freely for any of the above conditions; relief will follow promptly.

All through babyhood, Castoria is a mother's standby, and wise mothers do not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Just increase the dose of Castoria and keep the youngster's stomach sweet and the bowels in good order.

To be sure of getting genuine Fletcher's Castoria you should look for this signature: Charles H. Fletcher

RESUSCITATOR BOUGHT FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Menasha—An automatic resuscitator and inhalator, believed to be the only one of its kind north of Milwaukee, has been purchased by city officials and is available at the Menasha fire station. The equipment will be used in cases of drowning, carbon monoxide poisoning and all types of asphyxiation.

Although the machine is automatic, fool proof and incapable of injuring the subject, firemen are being trained to use it in all cases that may arise. Fire Chief Paul Thelmer is directing the work.

Germania Benevolent society will sponsor the second of a series of dancing parties in the Menasha auditorium Thursday evening.

Corn Becomes Monarch On Chicago Board Of Trade

Chicago—(P)—Wheat kings of long ago—James Keene, B. P. Hutchinson, Joseph Leiter, James A. Patton and others who manipulated the price of the world's supply—would probably gasp with amazement if they could visit the Chicago Board of Trade next Monday and see corn installed as leaders on the trading floor of grain.

On that day, for the first time in the 82-year-old history of the exchange, corn traders will occupy the large wheat pit handiest to the telephone while the wheat men will be pushed down the floor to the present corn pit, one-third as large.

The deposited grain will be subjected to other "undignities." Corn will have the preferred position on the quotation boards, and it will be exceeding wheat trading in bushels handled, and in the number of traders on the floor by three to one. The only satisfaction for a wheat trader of other decades would have been the higher price of his commodity which has seldom been approached by corn, but the quotations would give him other surprises.

Wheat prices are more than 18 cents a bushel higher here than for the same delivery in Liverpool, and more than 22 cents higher than in Winnipeg. Wheat still under the ground is priced at 16 cents a bushel below that already in granaries.

All these seeming enigmas are explained by the establishment by the government of the Federal Farm board which has decreed that wheat in granaries and elevators shall not be sold for less than a certain price. March and May deliveries cannot decline below the minimum because the farm board allies buy every bushel at that price, leaving only July wheat to fluctuate as news of the world crop varies, its price being determined by the inexorable laws of supply and demand.

Thus discouraged, they say, traders have drifted away from wheat and focused their attention on corn, unprotected in this manner. They add the government has the wheat market cornered at such a high level that there can be no liquidation in view of the tremendous price difference with the rest of the world. Wheat traders say they hope to be back in their old pit after May 31 when the government-sponsored buyers are expected to leave the market.

WON'T DISTURB STRUCTURE OF STATE BOARD

Abolition of Vocational Education Body Favored, However.

Madison—(CP)—Although abolition of the state board of vocational education is recommended, any attempt to disturb the underlying structure of the Wisconsin vocational system will be opposed, the legislative interim committee on education said today in its third report on proposed educational changes.

In its first report on the recommendations to be made to the 1931 legislature, the committee advocated the establishment of a central state board of education which would take over the administrative duties now held by some 30 boards and commissions. The second report recommended the abolition of the county normal school.

The work handled by the state board of vocational education would be turned over to the central state board under the committee's plan. Within the vocational system, a board established 20 years ago, a board was necessary but now it can be discarded without jeopardizing the system, the committee said.

"Mindful of what has happened in other states," the report said, "the committee is opposed to any change that would disturb the fundamental features necessary to guarantee an adequate educational opportunity to workers and especially to a change that would throw thousands of juveniles on the labor market on a full-time basis."

Although the Wisconsin vocational system is a world-leader, it has merely touched the problem of educating the farm youth of the state, in the opinion of the committee. A study of 64 Wisconsin communities in which agricultural courses are taught in high schools showed, 1,563 farm boys in school and 2,593 farm youths 14 to 20 years old not in a full-time school, the committee said. Some 455 were enrolled in part-time courses.

"It is evident," the report said, "that from these figures while much has been done, there is a large field for development before our farm boys and girls and adult farmers and the state receives the service they need. The surface has only been scratched."

See Expansion Room

In rehabilitation work, too, there is need for much expansion, the committee said. The report pointed out that in the past nine years 1,774 disabled persons have been returned to remunerative employment at an average cost of $292 per rehabilitant. Although it costs about $850 for the annual support of an individual in a state institution, "the monetary savings to the state through this rehabilitation program is increased many fold," the committee said.

"The problem, however, has only been touched, because many requests have been refused, since lack of funds. Only 410 out of 1,154 are receiving training now because funds are not available. As a matter of justice this work should be expanded so that these men need not wait for their training."

The report lauded the work being done in the entire vocational field in Wisconsin. The committee announced that it would adhere to the principles laid down by the 1911 legislature when it established vocational schools. The three principles provided for an effective part time school attendance law, a separate fund provided by a mill tax to insure adequate financial backing, and a separate administrative board representing employers, employees, and the public.

Compulsory attendance at vocational schools will remain under the committee's plan. Any attempt at passage of an "exemption" law, providing exemptions from compulsory attendance, will be opposed, the committee said, pointing out that such a law would wreck the entire system.

"The maintenance of the part-time school attendance laws, of the laws for financing, and of the law providing for an adequate representative board for administering the part-time schools, in their unimpaired strength is necessary to the continued existence of the part-time school system," the report said. "The withdrawing of any of these foundation stones will mean the toppling and ultimate ruin of the whole vocational educational structure. The committee hopes that this report may be of some assistance in preventing such a calamity occurring in Wisconsin."

The first application of Peterson's takes out the inflammation, brings blessed relief from that painful itching.

Repeated use of this powerfully soothing, healing Ointment assures a marvelously smooth delicate skin.

Mr. A. W. Turner of Birmingham, Ala., writes: "Was troubled for about 2 yrs. with eczema and after I used Peterson's Ointment for about 4 or 5 times, my trouble entirely disappeared."

One application of Peterson's Ointment will stop the burning and itching of eczema and one also box will prove it—get all drug stores, adv.

Fine Trout Fishing Is Offered At Stevens Creek

BY B. A. CLAFIN

This is article number two in the series of pointers on the best fishing regions of Wisconsin which I decided to outline for my readers after receiving several requests for them from anglers in different parts of the state. The first one touched on trout fishing. The subject was too big to cover in one short article, hence I find it necessary to continue it until I find it is complete enough to be of considerable value to anglers who vary in their preferences to early, midsummer or late fishing.

I have in mind at present a stream which is not very well known to trout anglers in general, but which is a gem in Stevens Creek. It lies above Long Lake, on the road to Tippler and Florence. After leaving Long Lake you drive until you employment so as to avoid expenditure for those who can really help themselves and to spend money and supplies only on those who are in distress or virtually helpless.

With its experience throughout the world in the effects of earthquakes, floods, famines and other disasters, the Red Cross has developed local organizations and services.

Helps 50,000 Families

Necessary food and clothing and other relief have been given by the Red Cross to families whose income has been greatly reduced or entirely wiped out by the drought. More than 50,000 families representing approximately 250,000 individuals in 17 states, mostly in the drought areas, have been assisted and it has cost about $549,955, of which about $500,000 has been paid out for food, the remainder being for seed.

"If a family can recover from its own resources or credit from the effects of the drought," says Mr. Payne, "it is not given Red Cross assistance. The Red Cross cannot provide a complete insurance against all the hazards of agriculture and industry. Its purpose is to give whatever assistance is necessary to prevent suffering. The relief which it administers must be regarded as a stepping stone to recovery. The needs of the families affected by the drought vary in accordance with the standards of the community and family. Persons requiring help in one county might be considered well-to-do in another. For these reasons, it is necessary that the Red Cross administer relief on a case by case consideration."

MUFFLER FOR PLANES

Moline, Ill.—Miss Eldorado Jones of this city is the inventor of a muffler for plane motors which makes their function almost noiseless. It is only 18 inches long and about 6 inches in diameter. Equipped with the muffler, a plane was flown in a test flight successfully. The muffler is said to also eliminate exhaust gases.

EQUAL RIGHTS LAW IN STATE SCORED BY WOMAN'S PARTY

Permits Wisconsin to Continue Restriction of Women in Industry, Claim

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—Wisconsin's "equal rights law" was criticized by the National Woman's Party in connection with its hearing on the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the federal constitution because the Wisconsin measure permits the state to continue laws restricting women in industry in ways that men are not restricted.

"Wisconsin, it is interesting to note in passing," said a statement issued by the party, "is the only state which has passed a law purporting to give women the same rights as men—expecting, however, equal opportunity to get work, since restrictive industrial laws are carried on the Wisconsin statute books."

The American Federation of Labor supports "protective" laws for women only, limiting the hours they may work in industry and in other ways establishing conditions required for women workers that are not required for men. Many women in unions which are members of the A. F. of L., however, oppose such laws on the grounds that they make it harder for women to get and keep jobs.

One of these Mrs. Maude Williams of New York, a typewriter operator, was a member of a delegation which on Monday asked President Hoover

High School And Lawrence Cage Quintets Open Home Season

ORANGE PLAYS AT ARMORY AND VIKES AT GYM

Games Friday Night Will Be First Appearance of Teams on Local Courts

APPLETON basketball fans will have an opportunity to attend either a high school or college basketball game tomorrow night when both quintets open their home season. The high school will battle West Green Bay in the Armory and the college will take on Beloit college quintet over at new Alexander gymnasium.

Lawrence opened its 1931 season Tuesday night down at Carroll when it lost to the Pioneers 34 and 26, in a game that was more to the Vikings' credit than the score would lead one to believe. The quintet showed great ability to handle the ball and found its greatest difficulty in meeting a type of defense that it was not prepared to battle so early in the season. If Beloit springs the same stuff the Blue and White will be ready for it because Coach Denney worked the team on the new defense last night.

Generally speaking the Vikings have as good an all around team as they've produced in several years. The first five boasts a couple sophomores but they are fast developing into real talent and with the veterans who are available, should give Beloit a battle.

Denney's aggregation down at Waushara showed Bennie Rafoth of Appleton and Frank Schindler as the centers, Fischl and Vander Bloemen as guards with Biggers, Laird and Hall forwards. The men all worked together nicely although showing lack of the polish that is noticeable after a couple of games.

Beloit will present practically the same five that cavorted the floor last season and which produced a great quintet late in the season. The men, all veterans, like the type ball taught by Coach Bob Jaggar and although defeated in a pre-season game, or two gave indications of amounting to more than an also ran aggregation. The Gold is on a road trip and meets Ripon at Ripon tomorrow night.

Appleton high school, rated a contender in Valley conference circles is taking on West Green Bay at the armory as the 1931 opener. The Orange are league leaders at present by virtue of a victory over Manitowoc just before school closed for the holidays. That score was 20 and 7 and branded the quintet as a great defensive machine and a great offensive aggregation.

Being picked as a contender all ways has its advantages but the Orange has probably lost its luster. Oshkosh's defeat Tuesday night and remember that winning the consolation is no easy job. The Sawdust city team was picked to be a contender too, and went down to defeat in the hands of a quintet that failed to win a pre-season game and therefore was booked as one of the cellar chumps.

Coach Shields probably will start the same aggregation that started against Manitowoc last month. Bill Mordell will be the center post, Mortell and his half punt running mate, Verrier, will be guards, and Rule and Collins or Friebe the forwards. The boys present a smooth passing aggregation and can be relieved by capable reserves.

West high has been engaging in a few practice games this season but seems to have accomplished little. The team is not rated to finish in the first four this season but can be depended upon to upset the dope if possible.

A preliminary game to begin at 7:15 will precede both the high school game and the one over at Lawrence gym. The main battles go on the boards about 8:15.

95 QUALIFY FOR LOS ANGELES OPEN

Soaking Rain Yesterday Afternoon Handicapped Many Contestants

Los Angeles—(P)—Promises of clear weather tomorrow heartened America's golfing army after a soaking rain which caught more than 350 qualifying players yesterday as they sought the privilege of contesting for $10,000 in Los Angeles' sixth annual open tournament.

Ninety-five of the weathered the storm through 35 holes of play to move into position with 35 exempted entrants, ready for the initial round over the par 69 Wishire Country club course.

Of these, six have already earned $50 each for best cards on the half dozen qualifying course. They are: Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 73-73-146; Ben Coltrin, Oakland, 70-76-146; W. H. Cox, Brooklyn, 71-76-147; Jimmy Thomson, Colorado Springs, Colo., 73-75-148; Ray Mangrum, Dallas, Tex., 78-73-152; Willard Hutchinson, Chicago, 71-82-154.

Tied for low qualifying score with Goggin and Coltrin was an 18-year-old high school lad, Danny Sangster. Los Angeles amateur, who played through the rain with a 76 after losing out in 70.

Only eight were able to break 150, while scores as high as 165 permitted some of the field to qualify. The others to better the 150 mark were: Edgar Love, Chicago, 150 with 72-74-147; Ray Coleman, Los Angeles amateur, with 72-76-148; and Walter Purdy, Seattle professional, with 74-75-143.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

Baseball
THE hot stove leaguers and sports writers along the lake shore are raising the dickens with State League baseball. Manitowoc wants Madison kicked out because it failed to draw last year; someone else wants Eddie Stump's Union Oils ousted unless they get a ball park, and still others want rookies given a chance instead of a lot of cast off major leaguers like Harry Cohen's collection at Racine.

If the Ships don't get what they want they threaten to move into the Fox River Valley league and take Menasha's franchise.

And in the meantime things are quiet in the Valley loop, at least as far as we know.

Although the record of the Browns is not studded with victories, over Lefty Grove, Ray Cahill, the chief scout for Phil Ball & Co., believes that he has a sure method of upsetting the Macklin speedballer.

"After Lefty steps on the rubber and gets his signal," Cahill said recently in a lanning bee "he counts

PLAY CLOSE GAMES IN OLDER BOY LOOP; SPECIALS AGAIN WIN

Defeat Wolverines 10 and 7 After Trailing 5 and 1 at End of Half

TEAMS in the Older Boys basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. swung into the first part of the 1931 schedule Tuesday evening; when three battles were staged on the association court.

The Vocational School five showing lack of practice during the holidays and therefore little team work went down to defeat in the hands of the Delta H-Y team, 11 and 4. Jorgensen was high point man for the Dets, getting four field goals.

Sam Ornstein's Specials continued to set the pace in the loop by eking out a win over the Wolverines 10 and 7. The winners trailed by a score of 5 and 1 at the end of the first half but rallied in the second period and carted home the victory.

A. Eberst was the star for the Specials getting five free throws and one field goal. Only three field goals were scored in the entire game.

The other game of the evening saw the Third Ward Midgets lose to the Galloping Ghosts, 9 and 8. The score at the end of the regulation period was 8 and 8 and in the overtime period, Winters fouled Kruse and he stepped to the line and missed one shot but made the second. The Midgets deserved the win for they missed a great number of shots during the regulation period.

"K. O." CHRISTNER SUBS FOR BATTLING BOZO

Peoria, Ill.—(P)—Meyer "K. O." Christner, veteran Akron, O. heavy-weight, and Bud Doran, Chicago youngster, will meet in a ten round fight tonight. Christner was substituted for Battling Bozo of Birmingham, Ala., who suffered a hand injury.

up to 10, then pitches. The idea of the count is to keep him from working too fast.

"Well, my plan is this. Have the batter count with Grove up to eight, and then have his step out of the box just as Lefty winds up. It will put Grove off stride, he will have to start counting all over again, and if the business up at the plate is used often enough you will soon have Grove throwing 'em over the grandstand."

It seems that we have heard of this idea before, and no doubt it has been tried, but Lefty keeps on moving them down, and Mr. Cahill will probably have to think up something different before the Browns face the tall sharpshooter this spring.

Ramblings

"Worries never cease for Knute Rockne," press dispatch says. And then it tells about a $25,000 offer to write for a news syndicate. Oh that we might have just one of those worries.

Art Shires was arrested in Hollywood and found to be touting brass knuckles. George Walsh wants to know if Shires didn't have enough brass without carrying knuckles.

Herbie Thompson and Tony Bruno are fighting so often someone soon will think they're a couple of wrestlers. The two boys are booked for Fond du Lac next Thursday evening, Jan. 15.

If the colleges are so positive about not playing football for the gates why don't they knock about $150 off those three buck tickets and let everyone see the games. That's one way to make use of the big stadiums they built a couple years ago.

Four youngsters who started their hockey careers with high school puck teams were on the ice here Sunday afternoon when Appleton and Oshkosh clashed. The Blue Streaks had Kiley, Newland, Davis and Rooney. Oshkosh was represented by a youngster named Tilly. All four played their first game when Appleton and Oshkosh high clashed a couple years ago.

Basketball

The valley conference dope bucket got an awful setback Tuesday evening and probably will be running around in circles for a couple of weeks. Oshkosh, picked to be the champions by several lake shore scribes met Sheboygan and was bumped off, 15 and 13.

Beaten in pre-conference games, Sheboygan showed a considerable fight and was not at all awed by the reputation the writers are giving Oshkosh. However, the Sawdust city aggregation has plenty of talent and perhaps Coach Jack Nussbaum will revamp the lineup. As warning to other squads in the valley we'll say, one game doesn't make a season. No, sir.

Hockey Attractions

A goodly number of Appleton folks saw the Blue Streaks open the home hockey season last Sunday by beating Oshkosh in two overtime periods. The day was comparatively warm and not bad for a hockey game. And the teams accommodated the folks by putting on a thrilling, relentless battle. Oshkosh still is playing the game in the newspapers and he accused Appleton of everything except violation of the Versailles peace treaty.

TWO GAMES PLAYED IN MILL CAGE LOOP

Laboratory Five Retains Hold on Top Rung by Beating Plant, 28-16

Kimberly—Two games recently were played in the Kimberly Club's inter department basketball league. The top notch Laboratory squad retained its hold on first place when it trimmed the Plant team by a 28 to 16 count. In the other game the Bookmill team walloped the Office in a one sided game 32 to 8.

The first game between the Laboratory and the Plant was the best exhibition of basketball although rough at times. The Laboratory, well known in local basketball circles had a great evening and sank six field goals and two gift shots to score half of team points. Du Chaine and Courchane of the Plant team did most of the scoring, each caged three field goals and Du Chaine added two free throws.

The second game was a run away for the Bookmill team passed and outshot the Office team in every period. The Office team felt the loss of George Christoph a regular guard and without him the squad could not form a defense good enough to stop the clever Bookmill cagers. The Bookmill showed real teamwork and three men did most of the scoring. Gossens, Bellile and Du Pont each caged five field goals. Du Pont caged five two field goals for the losers.

BREADON RETURNS TO BOSS THE CARDINALS

St. Louis—(P)—Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, was back at his offices today after a long vacation, part of which he spent at Havana, Cuba, and had a "believe it or not story for the baseball scribes.

"I went to Havana as part of a vacation," Breadon said. "It is true I was with John McGraw a number of times, but, believe it or not, we did not talk baseball."

Breadon said McGraw was in fine health, fully recovered from the illness which kept him off the bench late last summer.

Hallahan Sees Cards As Champs

BY SAM MURPHY

NEW YORK—(CPA)—Wild Bill Hallahan has been so thrilled by his first big year that he thinks the Cardinals will win the pennant again, despite the optimistic opinion held by the manager of the Chicago team.

Hallahan has been a slave to the old horseshoe since the season closed, having kept up his pegging for two months in order not to lose that control which carried him to such heights in the world series.

Hallahan is a demon for condition and like Burleigh Grimes he plays to open the season in whirlwind fashion, getting the jump on the other clubs. Like Grimes, Hallahan is in the gym every day and will go south two weeks before the training can be issued so the Cardinals training can give his arm thorough treatment.

Fearing his left arm would go weak or he might meet with an accident, Hallahan let his annual hunting trip go by default. He said he knew Gabby Street would be looking for early-season victories and he wants to be ripe for the grind.

"Gabby," said Wild Bill, "is a pal. He gave me a chance and no matter what any one else may think, I like him and regard him as a shrewd baseball manager. He took me and worked out that wisdom that bothered me. He had patience with me and I want to keep paying him back."

"I think the Cards will win next season because we will have Grimes with us from the start and Grimes is the best pitcher in the league, full of fight, loaded with spirit and a man who will battle to win. We did not start off with him last season, but then his arm got in shape and we headed for the flag and won it."

BADGER HOCKEY SIX WILL PLAY TWO GAMES

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin's veteran hockey team was preparing today for the opening brace of games on its Western conference schedule which will be played with Minnesota here Friday and Saturday.

The Badgers played a three-game series with Hibbing, Minn., and Ft. Francis, Ont., Can., during the Christmas holidays, and although they lost all the tilts, Coach "Spike" Carlson was well-pleased with the showing of his sextet.

Built around Art, Frisch, goalie, and Capt. "Bill," Metcalfe and Ed Swiderski, at the defense spots, the Badgers promise to be one of the best aggregations to represent the school since the game was started here. Gordon Meiklejohn, Howard Seige, and Art Thomsen, all veterans, make up the regular front line.

BURLEIGH GRIMES VISITS HOME FOLKS

Owen—(P)—The home town today turned out to welcome Burleigh Grimes, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher who made a name for himself during the last world series. He is here this week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Grimes.

MARQUETTE HOCKEY TEAM HAS TWO GAMES

Milwaukee—(P)—Ice conditions permitting, the University of Marquette hockey team Friday and Saturday nights will meet the University of Michigan sextet and the University of Minnesota Monday and Tuesday nights.

OCONOMOWOC HOLDS SKI TOURNAMENT SUNDAY

AMATEUR PROGRAM COMPLETE; MANY GOOD SEATS LEFT

Herbie Thompson, Johnnie Romans in Windup; Appleton Boys on Card

THE CARD

Herbie Thompson, New London, vs. Johnnie Romans, Milwaukee. Adolf Ebel, Manitowoc, vs. Billy Miller, Eagle River, vs. Cy Pepinski, Pulaski.

Andy Stackowicz, Menasha, vs. Sap Schuler, Kaukauna.

Art West, Appleton, vs. Hanky Hartman, Oshkosh.

Ray Murphy, Appleton, vs. Billy Druer, Menasha.

APPLETON amateur fight fans will gather at Armory G. tonight for the regular monthly fight program sponsored by Oney Johnston post of the American Legion. The bouts are the first of the new year and legionnaires hope to get away with another pleasing bit of leather tossing and a flock of satisfied customers.

Headlining the card will be Herbie Thompson of New London and Johnnie Romans, the latter of Milwaukee. Thompson is known as one of the greatest fighters this section has turned out in a long while and has a great following. He has scored 12 knockouts and his supporters hope to see him hand up another tonight.

Romans is little known hereabouts but is reputed to be as fine a match as ever secured for Thompson.

Harold Cotter, a Kaukauna entry in the squared ring is battling Adolf Ebel of Manitowoc in the semi-wind-up. Both boys have appeared here before and pleased the crowd. Cotter is contemplating a comeback in fight circles in hopes of meeting Hans Ahl in the windup of a program later in the season.

Two strangers in this section are pitted against each other in the fourth fight. They are Billy Miller of Eagle River and Cy Pepinski of Pulaski. However, advance reports are that the two boys are shuggers from the word go and will give the fans as delightful a battle as ever staged here.

Pepinski is from the stable of Al Kuback, Pulaski; bid for heavyweight fame in professional circles. A couple heavyweights, one from Menasha and one from Kaukauna are booked in the third fight. They will weigh in at about 188 pounds. The boys are "Sap" Schuler of football fame at the Electric City and Andy Stackowicz, Menasha.

The opening bouts will find two Appleton boys performing. Art West has drawn Hanky Hartman of Oshkosh in the second fight and the curtain raiser will feature Ray Murphy from across the river and Billy Druer of Menasha.

Hostilities open at 8:30. There are plenty of good seats available legion promoters stated Thursday morning.

MANY FORTUNES LOST IN SLUMP SINCE EARLY '30

Business Depression Listed as Most Serious Since 1893

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York—This year's business depression will be listed in financial history as the most serious since 1893. In some respects it has not had the acute and distressing features of earlier crises. It has, however, affected the fortunes of a greater number of individuals than any previous slump, and the fact that the ownership of securities had broadened out tremendously in the past ten years, with a shrinkage in stock and bonds in the last fifteen months of unparalleled size.

The public is more interested today in the outlook for business and for markets than in reviewing the causes that have upset the world during 1930. It is necessary, however, to survey briefly the latter in order to determine how far they may have spent their force and may be expected to be brought under early control.

At the end of 1929 the collapse in common stocks was held to be the contributing cause of the reaction in industry. A year later emphasis is being given to the over-production of goods and commodities, the political disturbances in Europe and in South America, the unequal distribution of gold supplies and the various artificial methods employed to compress the flow of supply and demand as they operate in the field of agricultural products, metals, minerals and other raw materials. There are additional factors that now have an influence in retarding trade and increasing securities, such as the tariff increasing competition between steam transportation companies and unregulated carriers, political prejudices against the new public utility holding companies, and the frozen condition of banks and investment trusts that expanded their portfolios with real estate and corporation securities and for which there is now only a nominal market.

Influence of Foreign Crises

In dividing the year into two parts it may be said that the influences acting adversely on business and on securities in the first half were mainly of a domestic origin while, in the second six months, these actors were supplemented, at times overshadowed, by such incidents as the revolutions in Peru, Argentina and Brazil, the success of the National Socialist Fascist party in Germany, the critical political and economic conditions in Great Britain, Spain, Italy and Japan and the constant threat to world trade of "dumping" by Russia.

If we accept the figure of $350,000,000,000 as a correct estimate of the national wealth of the United States in 1929, we may say that the equivalent of a 15 per cent reduction in this has occurred in securities alone since the stock market touched its high point in September of that year. This is not an irrecoverable loss, for both stocks and bonds are now selling as much below their actual values as they were previously quoted above such values. The shrinkage, however, has made the country feel poor, although the actual loss in income from its securities has been small.

The man who owns United States Steel, or American Telephone & Telegraph, or Atchafalaya Consolidated Gas, Pennsylvania, New York Central, General Electric, General Motors, or numerous other sound shares, or German, Argentine, or Chilean government bonds, or the second grade American railroad obligations, has not suffered loss of dividend or interest. His state of mind, however, as he figures the twelve months' depreciation in his securities, has a positive effect when a buying proposition is placed before him. Consequently, the potential purchasing power of the country has been seriously cut into by this condition. It will suffer from it so long as securities remain depressed.

Abnormal Caution Develops

There is little doubt that a considerable portion of our prosperity in the two years preceding the collapse was due to actual or paper profits realized from speculative ventures. The beneficiaries regarded these profits as income and adjusted their standard of living accordingly. At the same time, mechanics and clerical forces were enjoying the highest average of wages in their history. Their purchasing power likewise increased. With reverse conditions, securities dropping instead of rising, and losses substituted for gains, the public that had been in the market not only stopped buying luxuries but became abnormally cautious in the matter of purchasing necessities.

The rapid drop in employment and in payrolls, with a scant adjustment in retail prices to those at wholesale, automatically reduced the movement of goods from the producer to the consumer.

This was further accentuated by the distress in the agricultural sections of the country where the low level of farm products and months of drought prevented the buying of anything not required for days to day needs.

Roughly speaking, the average price of several hundred stocks has declined about 50 per cent since the high level was established in September 1929. From the peak of last year a list of about forty important commodities indicated a drop of 50 per cent to the end of November. This month's average of stocks was the lowest since the summer of 1927. That of commodities has not been duplicated since 1915.

Stability in Commodities

There has recently been rather more evidence of stabilization in commodities than in securities. It may be of no importance, but at least it is of interest, that the drop in copper, cotton, silk, rubber and wheat has been about the same relatively as the average decline in stocks. From an international standpoint the flabby condition of the commodity market has produced greater economic and political disturbances than any other factor, in this country it has been the subject of more discussion in Congress than the fall in stocks and bonds. Therefore, slight indication that consumption is overtaking production and that means have been found for keeping superabundant supplies of commodities from the market is one of the encouraging signs of recovery at the end of the year.

Those who bought stocks in the 1929 panic believed they had secured remarkable bargains. Those who at the same time sold them shortly afterwards felt that they had been foolishly misled. Each might have held to his views until April, for securities slowly advanced and then became buoyant in the spring as overconfidence in a business recovery, promoted by unfortunate predictions from Washington, and abetted by the exploitation of certain pooled shares on the New York Stock Exchange, carried the average of stock up 45 points from the low of the previous November.

The story of the market for the next eight months is one of prolonged liquidation resembling that during the "rich man's panic" in 1907, with only occasional moderate rallies and the averages each time declining below those of the previous slump, and with monthly losses in quoted values for industrial, railroad and public utility shares of staggering size. The final phase of the decline has been associated with distressed selling growing out of the bank failures in the interior, the "whispering campaign" in Wall Street directed against scores of perfectly solvent institutions and private firms and the emergency that developed a fortnight ago when the Bank of United States was closed.

Many Misjudgments Made

It is safe to say that there are almost no regular individual or institutional buyers of stocks who have not, at some time in 1930, felt that the current level of prices had discounted all of the known or unknown factors in the situation, and that the purchases for permanent investment. A frequent cause of trouble late last year and early this year was the shrinkage in the holdings of those who bought stocks too soon in October 1929. Similar difficulties have developed out of the same misjudgment of the market when it broke in June and again last October. This is especially true of the investment trusts and trading corporations and accounts for the numerous dividend suspensions in this group of companies.

It has been impossible to measure values by old yardsticks. For months the yield on common stocks has been at an average that, under the best of investment conditions, The ratio of price to earnings has dropped from the peak of last year to one that was equally abnormal in the other direction. Numerous industrial and railroad shares continued to decline after they had touched prices the equivalent of those in years when their dividend and earnings per share were smaller than now and when they had more bonded debt ahead of stock, a smaller profit and loss surplus, and larger inventories of raw materials and manufactured goods. It has seemed as though a public that, in 1928 and 1929, hastened to risk all of its capital in common stocks had, in 1930, gone to the other extreme in demanding that its capital be exclusively in cash or government securities.

Reaction Baffles Economists

Errors of judgment in forecasting the trend of the stock market have been duplicated in the field of commodities and in general industry. Some of them have arisen from attaching too much importance to the collapse in stocks and subsequently ascribing business ills exclusively to it. Eventually it was discovered that there were other and more deep-seated reasons. As these have played their part, they have had a tendency to advance the period of probable recovery in securities and in commercial activity further into the future.

Economists have learned this year that, while they could with considerable accuracy forecast a reaction, it was not so easy to gauge the duration of it. Working on precedent as to the normal length of a depression, many of them came to the conclusion in September that it was about time business improvement appeared. We have since had a succession of monthly predictions that the low point in business had been attained and that conditions were on the mend.

While such reckonings were premature in September, they appear to have justification as the year ends, though it is still in settlement, rather than in statistics, that the change is to be found.

Although the severity of the depression and its collateral features seem to resemble those of 1893, it is with 1921 that comparison is most frequently made. In some phases this year's decline has been more acute than that of a decade ago. For instance, the index of business activity in November was several points below that reached in March, 1921. There is a long list of commodities, including copper, silver, coffee, sugar and wheat, that have fallen much further down the price scale than they did in the last depression. The break in commodity averages, however, has not been so abrupt as previously.

There have been months this year when our foreign trade was smaller than in the same season of 1921. For the January-October period it is off $2,194,999,999, or 27 per cent. The percentage of mortality in business has been higher, though this may easily be explained by the large number of new corporations formed and individual enterprises established in the interval. Unemployment has affected a greater number of families this year than it did in 1921, with demands on local charities as well as for government aid for industrial workers and farmers materially in excess of those in the previous deflated period. Estimates of those out of work range from 3,500,000 to 4,500,000.

Unless industrial methods are changed the world over there will be a rising ratio of unemployed permanently. The economic and social conditions that no obtain severely test the benefits of mass production that have been so widely advertised.

Sources of Strength

Poor as the country feels itself to be because of reduced incomes and the enormous depreciation in securities, it is much better able to carry on than it has been in other depressions. While there have been over 1,000 corporation dividends reduced or passed this year, the dollar aggregate of dividends and interest being paid exceeds by many times that of ten years ago and in even 10 per cent in excess of 1929. Savings bank deposits at $22,000,000,000 are likewise greater than they have ever been before and recently have been increasing rather than decreasing.

In 1921 the strongest American corporations were forced to borrow at rates between 6 1/2 and 7 1/2 per cent against current demands from lenders of between 4 1/2 and 5 per cent.

There are no swollen inventories of merchandise. There is greater integration in the banking world, as indicated in the ability to localize effects of the New York failure. On the other hand conditions internationally are less satisfactory than they were a decade ago and constitute the most serious problem that faces those who have responsibility for bringing the domestic situation back to normal.

Within the business life of the present generation there have been six serious reverses in trade and industry, those of 1893, 1903, 1907, 1914, 1921 and 1929. In other words, in less than forty years, the man active in trade and the investor have had to experience a degree of commercial and investment market depression that threatened him with insolvency. In this same period medical science has conquered many of the diseases that ravaged earlier generations. Physical science has made great advances in establishing life on a more satisfactory basis. But the science of business does not seem to have progressed at all with respect to control of ventures that periodically lead to such disasters as are now being witnessed.

An analysis of many of the troubles that have been exposed in the past six months will plainly indicate that they result from conditions that are almost identical with those in the panics of the past. There is always some new growth in a period of inflation that eats like a cancer into the business and financial organism and offsets the benefits of other diseases that have been permanently cured.

Rise of Investment Trusts

An explanation of this is to be found in the spirit of speculation that overtakes the people of a country when prosperity is high and there is an abundance of capital seeking outlet in projects that promise extravagant rewards. A new phase of the 1929-1930 period was the flotation of several billion dollars worth of stocks in investment trusts and trading corporations. Where these companies held strictly to the principle of earning a return on their portfolios in excess of the cost of their capital, through an internationally diversified list of securities, they show a smaller shrinkage than has come to the investor who holds a limited number of railroad, industrial or public utility securities.

A large part of these concerns, however, were not satisfied with adhering to the policy that brought them their original success and justified the confidence of investors in them. They became traders in stocks rather than investors and assumed huge commitments in "equities" of an unseasoned character.

For this they cannot avoid the criticism that stockholders now place on their shoulders.

It is safe to say that of the great mass of capital entrusted to these financial combinations, there has been a fading away of at least 60 per cent, and numerous instances where the shrinkage has been 75 to 80 per cent. Some portion of this will be recovered when the general market advances. Unfortunately, however, there are in many investment trust portfolios stocks and bonds that were purchased at unwarranted prices and for which there is today almost no market.

It is not surprising that the fixed trust has this year attained so much popularity among investors, for while the purchaser of its shares obviously pays a substantial premium for fixed trust units, he knows what he has and that what he has is not subject to substitution except under specified conditions, if at all.

"Stabilizers" Distributing

Nearly all the brokerage and investment house failures this year may be traced to a departure from the natural functions of such concerns into fields of investment trust management. It is equally true that a high percentage of the 950 banking failures, from coast to coast, has occurred among institutions identified with some banking "chain." Chain banking and investment trust promotion were supposed to have been the great achievements of the "new era." Instead of being stabilizers of markets and of banking conditions, they have proved to be among the most disturbing of the adverse elements of the year.

When the year's 35 per cent decrease in industrial profits, its 30 per cent shrinkage in railroad operating income, the 40 to 50 per cent drop in the market price of agricultural products, metals and minerals and the depreciation of at least $60,000,000,000 in quoted values of securities in the New York and interior securities markets are considered, the wonder is that this country has come through 1930 with such a comparatively small fatality list. This fact increase respect for its vitality and should modify the pessimism that has been so universal for the past six months, and deeper in December than since 1907.

Seldom has the market for securities been so thoroughly liquidated as it is today. A 70 per cent decrease in brokers' loans establishes this fact. The general public is carrying stocks on margin to only a limited extent. It is true that banks are lending on collateral to a greater degree than could be desired, but the Federal Reserve analysis of this situation is encouraging. There are enough evidences that the bottom has been reached in different commodities and that consumption is overtaking production to establish a confidence in the ability of business slowly to emerge from the depths to which it has fallen in the past 16 months.

Three Adverse Situations

There are three situations in which the outlook is not so clear as one would wish and which together may delay recovery. One has to do with the railroads; the other two with the bond market and with foreign political and economic conditions. The investments of the banks and insurance companies, as well as those of individuals, in railroad bonds and stocks is greater than in any other group. Not within this generation has there been a year when as great depreciation in railroad securities has taken place as that which began in the late summer of 1929. This has resulted in part from the 30 per cent decrease in net operating income, though quite as much from the sudden realization that the carriers were faced with competition which limits their growth in gross revenues at the same time that their rates and operating expenses steadily handicap them and limit the percentage of return on their property investment.

Loss of confidence in railroad stocks has also developed out of the extraordinary bad judgment and that has followed such so-called "strategic purchases" as those by the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Van Sweringen interests.

The railroads have had a year of trial. They have also had, since 1924, years of great plenty. Between 1924 and 1929 the Class 1 roads carried over $2,000,000,000 to surplus account after paying their dividends. Stocks which are now quoted on a 7 to 10 per cent yield basis have, in recent years, been earning from 50 to 75 per cent, some of them 100 per cent, over the amount paid annually to shareholders. Obviously, therefore, they are not in the condition of financial ruin that has been described by those who have persistently been selling them. They still have a good deal of fat to live on, even if 1931 is another lean year.

The re-establishment of their credit among investors rests with Congress, but equally with railroad managements. There are many things the latter could do to help themselves if they could agree with each other. In this industry, as in those devoted to the production and distribution of the commodities, a lack of cooperation and an unwillingness to sink personal ambitions for the general good wastes tens of millions of dollars annually that should be available to shareholders.

Investment Market Outlook

The relation of the depressed bond market to the railroad, as well as to the public utility world, is that of limiting expansion until prices of fixed interest obligations become stable and the regular purchasers of them regain their confidence sufficiently to subscribe to new issues.

The situation at present is that the only borrowers that find favor are the government and municipalities with high credit. There is an impasse in the general investment market that must be broken before the health of the business situation can begin to improve.

International conditions, financial and political, are confusing and unpromising at the end of the year. All of Europe looks with dread on the winter months, when unemployment may easily aggravate the present tense situation in Great Britain, Germany, France, Spain and Italy. The menace of Russia faces most of them, as it does this country. Before many months there may be a general election in England. The tenure of the present coalition in Germany is uncertain. France, with all of her gold, has not been able to prevent the largest number of serious bank failures since her currency was stabilized. She has so far made poor use of her money resources. Spain is muttering against the monarchy. The peace of Italy is seriously disturbed. There is more talk of war and less evidence of leadership than since Locarno.

It is regrettable that, in this situation, so little sympathy and accord goes out to Europe from the United States. However, this country will not be able to step away from the inevitable discussion of debt revision that will occur next year or the portion of sacrifice it must make in some form in order to assist in world recovery.

Outlook For 1931

The outlook for 1931 is not by any means hopeless. This country will not slump back to the conditions of 1920 or 1915. It is now experiencing the prostration that comes from a long illness in business and in investment markets. Its people are rapidly coming to a saner mind, living a healthier life, freeing themselves from embarrassing commitments and saving their money. What they have lacked above all this year has been leadership. If this could be assured now, one could be quite confident that a substantial degree of recovery would set in the early part of 1931.

GOVERNOR TO TALK AT STOCKMEN'S BANQUET

Madison—Gov. Philip F. La Follette will be the principal speaker at the annual farmers' and stockmen's banquet to be held here Feb. 6, according to an announcement of A. D. Whitmore, Lyons, president of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association. Dr. E. B. Hart, University of Wisconsin agricultural chemist; Charles L. Hill, agriculture and markets commissioner and C. B. Denman, livestock marketing special with the Federal Farm board, will be other speakers.

LIONS CLUB TO SPONSOR FIRST SKATING MEET

Rudd Smith Is Appointed Chairman of Committee Charge of Tourney

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—New London Lions will sponsor an ice tournament. The committee in charge is working on details which will be announced after Thursday's noon meeting. No dates have been set, but the event promises to establish a precedent in this winter sport. Lions at their latest meeting talked of various projects which would embrace several features of especial benefit to children and young people. Acting upon this discussion, a committee was named which includes Rudd Smith as chairman, Dr. John Linsted, Jr., and W. T. Comstock. Dr. Linsted talked with various persons at Appleton regarding the manner in which Appleton's winter skating tournaments are carried out. Mr. Smith conferred on Wednesday with R. J. McMahon, superintendent of schools, and the carnival which staged will be carried out in cooperation with the body.

According to present plans there will be five classes, divided so that all ages may participate. As yet there is no plan for a hockey game, as the committee feels that the first year's program must be tried out as an experiment, and therefore rather conservative in plan. Following the discussion at the club meeting a comprehensive list of prizes, entrance classifications and rules will be arranged and published.

BLAMES FAILURES TO INCOMPETENCE

Lack of Capital Is Second Chief Cause, Walter Olen Tells Rotarians

New London—More than half of all business failures last year were due to incompetence or lack of capital, Walter Olen, president of the Clintonville Four Wheel Drive Co., Clintonville, told the Rotary club at its weekly meeting here yesterday. He said that incompetence caused 31 per cent of the failures, while capital scarcity brought about 37 per cent. "Specific reasons were responsible for 15 per cent, and the balance were due to personal reasons." The club decided to contribute next week to Doris Burton, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burton, who Monday afternoon saved a playmate, Marian McPaul, from possible drowning in the Wolf river. Doris pulled her playmate to safety after the latter had broken through the ice. W. H. Hutton will deliver a talk and will present the little girl with a $5 gold piece. The club will give her some clothing.

The other two speakers at this week's meeting were Mr. Hutton and Emil Hamilton. The former described the inauguration of Gov. Philip LaFollette last Monday afternoon at Madison, while Mr. Hamilton told about his recent trip to Florida.

NEW LONDON SOCIETY

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The meeting of the West Side Five Hundred club was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Pomrenning. Prizes were won by Mrs. Will Gherke and Mrs. Emil Gorges. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Pomrenning.

The Congregational Ladies aid met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Sweeney. Formal installation of officers for the year took place. Rev. A. W. Sweeney installed the staff. Officers include Mrs. J. W. Monsted, Sr., president, and four vice presidents, Mrs. Robert Dauterman, Mrs. Gilbert Forstada, Mrs. F. R. Smith and Mrs. A. W. Sweeney. Vice-presidents will act for three months each. Mrs. Carrie Archibald-Hooper is treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Pfeiffer, secretary, and Mrs. Henry Hoffman treasurer of the dues calendar.

Chairmen of the three circles of the aid society will be named during the coming week. Group meetings will be held at homes to be selected and officers for each circle announced following these meetings.

CHILDREN WARNED OF DANGEROUS SKATING

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Police have asked the cooperation of parents to warn their children against skating in dangerous places. Children have been noticed taking daring chances on the ice some distance from the open water holes. On several occasions they have skated boldly near the open water holes east of the S. Pearson bridge and near the Hutton saw mill. When admonished by police officers the children paid little attention, it was said.

Parents who wish their children to skate should admonish them to stay away from this dangerous part of the river, and to remain where protection can be given them.

NEW LONDON PERSONALS

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Herres are spending a part of today in Appleton.

Miss Dorothy Vial is a guest of friends in Appleton this week.

Miss Dorothy Zaig has returned to National Park college at Washington, D. C., after spending the holidays here. She was accompanied as far as Oshkosh by Mrs. Harold Zaig. She will spend a few days in Chicago before returning to the east.

Miss Albin Snow will leave this week for Appleton to remain indefinitely. Miss Shaw has for the past few days been home at the

SEES BUSINESS RISE AT EDISON COMPANY

New London—A gradual return this year to the normal operating schedule at the Edison Wood Products Co. is predicted by J. J. Burns, superintendent, who has returned from a trip to the eastern offices. The company has been operating on a greatly reduced schedule since last fall.

Entrance of the company into new lines is being effected now, according to Mr. Burns. A sales organization to handle the new line is being developed, and as soon as a market is established, production will be stepped up at the local plant, Mr. Burns indicated.

FARMERS' RISK COMPANY HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

H. C. Gartlin Is Re-elected President of Mutual Insurance Firm

Special to Post-Crescent
Hortonville—The annual meeting of the policy holders of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance company was held Tuesday afternoon in the council room of the Hortonville village hall. The meeting was presided over by the president, H. C. Gartlin and the secretary, Rufus Poole, was clerk of Directors for the ensuing year were elected as follows: H. C. Gartlin, J. H. Leppa, Frank Reimer, Jas. F. Witten and Samuel Schultz. Delegations from the villages of Black Creek and Shiocton appeared before the meeting with the request that the society remunerate the fire departments of those villages to the amount of $50 for every fire fought by the fire departments of those villages outside of their corporate limits. The request was granted. In the evening the newly elected directors met at the insurance office to transact the usual business. H. C. Gartlin was re-elected president of the company; R. Poole, secretary; F. Reimer treasurer and J. H. Leppa, special examiner. The affairs of the company were found in a very healthy condition there being a good increase over the previous year in number of policies and amount of insurance carried.

The Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. B. E. Collar Tuesday night. First prize was taken by Miss Ella Behrend and second by Mrs. Ella Jones. Lunch was served.

The village treasurer, G. A. Kuhn, has begun his collection of taxes. He will collect at the Farmers and Merchants State bank on Tuesdays and Fridays during January and February and on the other days of the week at his home on Pine-st. The rate per thousand is $22.665.

HILBERT BANK PAYS 12 PER CENT DIVIDEND

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Hilbert—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the State bank of Hilbert was held at the village hall Tuesday. The regular 12 per cent dividend which has been paid for the last 20 years, was paid again to the stockholders.

There will be a meeting to complete the organization of a Boy Scout troop here at the public school Wednesday evening. Mr. Wordell will have charge of the organization work.

The ladies of St. Mary church will hold a card party Sunday, in the church basement. The committee in charge are Mrs. Frank Kleinhaus, chairman; Mrs. Nick Kees, Mrs. Joseph Jost, Mrs. Catherine Jost, Mrs. Mike Kioepfel, Mrs. Frank Kioepfel, Sr., Mrs. Frank Kioepfel, Jr., Mrs. John Kioepfel, Mrs. Edward Kleinhorn, Mrs. Mike Lauer, Mrs. Frank Laughlin and Mrs. Willard Lieby. Skat, schafkopf and five hundred will be played.

Albert Stolter of the Hilbert Sanitary bakery has rented the former electric shop and will sell bakery there.

Frank E. Pieper and A. E. Madler autoed to Madison Monday where they attended the inaugural ceremonies and the reception in honor of the governor as guests of Maurias Pasch of New Holstein, who has been named assistant secretary to Gov. LaFollette.

Mrs. Arno Schmidt entertained the five hundred club Tuesday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Jack Lailey and Mrs. Gordon Wolff. Mrs. Slaney will entertain next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Plate announce the birth of a son at their home Monday.

LITTLE CHUTE WINS FROM FREEDOM BY SCORE OF 16 TO 6

Home Team Holds Visitors to Single Free Throw in Second Half

Special to Post-Crescent
Little Chute—The St. John high school basketball team of Little Chute defeated the Freedom high school team in a fast game Monday evening in the St. John auditorium, 16 to 6. The score at the end of the first quarter was tied 3 to 3. The visitors were successful in holding the home team scoreless in the second quarter while they collected a field goal. When the half ended the visitors were ahead 5 to 3. The home team came back strong in the second half, holding the visitors to one free throw and collecting an additional 13 points for themselves. The game ended with the home team winning by a score of 16 to 6. Captain Jansen starred for the winners getting four field goals and a free throw.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pine. Pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat, but it also acts as a powerful expectorant, and it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the accumulated phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pine. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN, STOCK AT ANGELICA

Special to Post-Crescent
Rose Lawn—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn and all live stock on the Walter Welczyk farm at Angelica, early on New Years morning. The machine shed with all machinery and garage also burned.

This being the fourth time Mr. Welczyk has lost his buildings by fire.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lontkowski last week. Carroll Rector and children returned to Wisconsin Rapids on Wednesday after spending several days here at the home of his cousin Mrs. George Wisniewski.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sawicki have moved into their new modern home. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Kitchenmaster and children left on Friday for a motor trip to Florida to spend the winter.

SNOW FIGHTERS ARE READY FOR BLIZZARD

County Highway Commission Puts Equipment into Shape for Tussle

Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—The Waupaca highway commission is ready for a battle with a heavy snow storm, according to John Huffcutt, highway commissioner. The county's equipment to battle with drifts is composed of four heavy and six light trucks, all furnished with "V" shaped plows and four tractors, three 10 ton and one five ton machine. The equipment has all been repaired and is ready for the job of keeping county highways open for traffic.

Mrs. George Dobbins, entertained the Women's Improvement club Tuesday evening. Five tables of five hundred were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Alphonse Steiger, Mrs. John Yanke and Mrs. Arnold Sader.

The annual Congregational meeting of the St. Paul Lutheran church will be held at two o'clock Sunday afternoon. Routine business will be disposed of and officers for the coming year will be elected.

Bills were allowed at the monthly meeting of the village board held Tuesday evening at the village hall. A new village or community hall for Fremont was discussed but nothing definite was done. More street lights on Water-st. and on corner Waupaca and Franklin-sts was proposed. No action was taken.

Roland Wells while cranking his automobile Tuesday forenoon sprained the wrist on his right hand.

Colds and Throat Infections May Sit Right Beside You!

Every cold and throat infection is caught from somebody else. During the Winter infection is more common than ever. Do the sensible thing—realize that every exposure to crowds exposes you to danger and act accordingly. A reliable defense is offered you in McKesson's Extol. This is the new antiseptic of new germicidal powder and penetrative ability. It revolutionizes all former standards of antiseptic mouth washes.

The "10-Second" Germicide

Extol kills germs faster than any ordinary preparation yet known. And it reaches parts that other antiseptics miss. It penetrates the mucous membrane and reaches the germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of mucosa. Hence its action is complete and thorough. Extol is the best "ounce of prevention" you can use but if you have already caught a cold or sore throat, it will relieve it in fast time. Extol is utterly harmless and most delightful to use. Also, it's economical. Costs less than other preparations and as you can dilute it more liberally, goes further. All McKesson Service Druggists and all independent drug stores sell Extol. Get a bottle today and be forearmed against Winter ills. Note the name, EXTOL — a McKesson & Robbins product. Adv.

DEBATERS FROM KAUKAUNA SEEK LEAGUE HONORS

In Final Round for Championship With Two Rivers and Kewaunee

Kaukauna—Kaukauna high school debaters will participate in the final round of debates to decide the championship of the Northeastern Wisconsin Interscholastic league on Jan. 14 and 15, according to Olin G. Dryer, principal. The other two schools in the triangle are Two Rivers and Kewaunee.

Local debaters won their way in the final round by winning in the first two rounds of debates and eliminating six other schools in the league. A novel plan was followed by the local school in which senior class debate teams debated in one round and junior debate teams debated in the other. Debaters to participate in the final round were chosen from the two class teams.

On Wednesday, Jan. 14, Two Rivers high school will debate here against a team composed of Carl Hartzahl, Lloyd Romensko and Mrs. Rosella Otto. This team is being coached by Herman Maes, who debated with the school team last year. On Thursday, Jan. 15, Kaukauna will debate Kewaunee high school at Kewaunee with a team composed of Lloyd Franzke, Robert Vanevenhoven and Miss Evelyn Miller. This team is being coached by Robert Meyer, also a member of the debate team of last year.

The debates will also decide whether the local high school will take part in the sectional debates that will decide the state championship in debate. The question of debate is whether chain stores are a detriment to the American public.

KAUKAUNA LEGION CONDUCTS MEETING

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna post, American Legion met at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Legion hall on Oak-st. Following the business session a lunch was served.

REGIONAL FAIRS ARE PREDICTED IN STATE

Madison—(AP)—Regional fairs may be held in the future in Wisconsin, in the opinion of H. M. Knipfel, commissioner in the department of agriculture and markets.

"No definite action has been taken by the department yet," Mr. Knipfel said, "but the proposals would include the establishment of definite territory in every county to which the fair would be open. Making definite arrangements with other fairs in those counties to have the regional fair after other county fairs in the district, would be another consideration."

The future fair will emphasize the need of helping people from all walks of life to change their practices of living and farming to advantage, Mr. Knipfel said. County and district fairs in Wisconsin do an annual business of $1,500,000, he said.

Safe Swift Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose a load of unhappy fat that you don't want and don't want at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream—and within a short time you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 5 vitalizing salts of Kruschen have preserved you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to try around and say to your friends, "One 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists, America over sell Kruschen Salts—where you always get it at Schuler's Drug Co., 6 S. Main St., Appleton, Wis. Try it—Kruschen Salts—America over sell Kruschen Salts.

OVERPRODUCTION IS NOT TRUE CAUSE OF LOW PRICES OF MILK

Flow of Milk Last Summer and Fall Below Average, Writer Points Out

BY W. F. WINSEY
Green Bay — Erroneous and misleading statements about overproduction of milk last summer, last fall and this winter in this section of the state are constantly being circulated as an explanation of surpluses and the dropping of production prices. These statements were and still are without foundation in facts, it appears.

On the contrary, the customary summer peak in milk production did not show up in June and July last summer as the pastures were frozen in the middle of April and were dried up by the drought that started June 1 and continued throughout the summer and fall. In June, and July the milk flow was not over 50 per cent of the peak flow of 1929. In August September and October milk flow was cut down to 30 per cent of normal for those months by a lack of pastures and scant grain rations being fed to cows. The milk flow at the present time is about 25 per cent of the customary summer peak.

What is to say that a cheese factory that during the summer milk peak of two years ago took in 10,000 pounds of milk daily is now taking in 2,500 pounds daily from the same number of herds. The ratio of those totals probably holds good at all milk intakes in this section of Wisconsin.

The facts upon which the above corrections are based were obtained, last summer, last fall, and this winter from scores of farmers, cheese makers, and heads of creameries.

Any surplus of milk or cheese that exists and is increasing is due to unemployment and consequent under consumption aggravated by high consumer prices.

Cities supplied with milk by farmers organized into a collective bar-

FOUR CITIES CONDUCT CLASSES IN AVIATION

Madison—(AP)—Four cities in Wisconsin are holding classes under direction of the university extension division in aviation. Ninety-four students are enrolled in the classes conducted by Prof. C. D. Case.

"The interest in this semester's classes," he says, "indicates that the gaining agencies as Madison are not ordinarily bothered with milk surpluses as the farmers through controlling the time of the freshening of their cows make the milk deliveries fairly uniform throughout the year. Then again these farmers get a certain price for the milk that goes into bottles and a lower price for surplus. The low price is an incentive for the farmers to control their herds so that surpluses are insignificant."

A collective milk marketing group about each city would make milk deliveries uniform throughout the year and tend toward production in accordance with the best of sanitary practices.

Piping Hot Waffles
drenched with Staley's Maple Flavored Syrup. Their fragrant early-morning aroma brings sleepy heads scurrying . . .

"DOWN SOUTH, where I learned syrup making and blending in open kettles nearly fifty years ago, I learned that it takes fine ingredients to make fine syrup. Take this Maple blend, for instance.

"I flavor it with only the finest Canadian Maple Sugars that money can buy. That's the only way you can give it that woodsy maple tang. I'm kept mighty busy these days making enough to satisfy all the folks who want it."

Staley's Maple Flavored Syrup is delightful with hot biscuits, waffles, pancakes and muffins. Also it makes delicious candies, cakes and cookies. Surprisingly inexpensive too! Write for our free recipe book.

Chapter 21
LOYALTIES

BOB'S passionate plea took Fanny by surprise.

"Dear, dear, Bob! You are too absurd. Who am I but Fanny the nobody—condemned to be all the best people? And besides—what gifts have I?"

Bob sat up, facing her. His voice and his gaze were a caress.

"Leaving out your beauty," he said, "and your—well, we'll call it your personality—you have the gift of high spirits and gaiety, the gift of gentleness and sweetness, a genuine liking for people and the sensitivity and tenderness to draw them out; above all, the gift to lighten the man and make him think well of himself."

"I couldn't do it now. You've painted a glorified picture of the old Fanny. I'm not gay any more. Ask David."

"You were going to tell me about it. I suppose it's that mother-in-law of yours. Why in God's name did David take you back there to live?"

"It was my fault, not David's," Fanny began. She wanted in justice to David to tell Bob how her careless ignorance—and worse—had broken up his Seattle plans, but the memory was too bitter.

"It was so deeply to blame," she went on after a pause, "that I find I can't talk about it. You probably have heard. If you haven't, Leila will tell you."

Leila had written Bob at the time—Bob remembered now.

"All right," Bob's voice was hoarse with pity.

"David is caught in a trap," Fanny went on in an even tone. "He made a solemn promise to live with his mother as long as his uncle lived. About a year ago I begged him to take me away. I told him I couldn't be happy there—that it was stifling me, surviving me up inside. And he promised to have it even with Uncle Judd. But Uncle Judd was ill—and David kept putting it off. Then Uncle Judd had his stroke. The doctors say he may live 20 years. And David feels bound to keep his promise—now that he can't ask to be released."

"In other words, he sacrifices you to satisfy his sensitive conscience. I suppose he calls it his honor. Admires himself."

"Don't! Don't begin sympathizing. I can't bear it. At the break in her voice Fanny found herself swept into Bob's arms and weeping comfortably on his broad shoulder.

"There, that's done me worlds of good," said Fanny. Gently she released herself, patted Bob's hand, managed a smile. "I haven't had anyone to talk to or anyone to feel sorry for me since you and Amelia went away—except Leona, our cook."

"I'll write Amelia," said Bob grimly, "and I think I'll also take it up on myself to tell David a thing or two—that is, if you're determined not to go with me."

Fanny shook her head.

"Don't be idiotic, Bob. You mustn't say anything to David—He never forgives you. He has the word on his shoulder now, poor boy. He isn't 30 yet and he's practically running that bank. It's an enormous responsibility and you know how conscientious he is and how he worries."

"It might do him good to worry about you for a change—take you a little to heart," interrupted Bob viciously.

"Oh, but he does—he's always worrying about me. Naturally I don't run to him with constant complaints of his mother—it would drive him crazy."

"You poor kid! And of course the old girl knows that you'll keep your mouth shut and David will walk softly, instead of stamping up like a man and lambasting the life out of the old dragon."

"Bob, I won't have you sneering at David. He's doing the best he can to meet an extremely difficult situation. It's not so easy to lambaste the life out of one's own mother—and it would only make things worse if he did."

"You're right. Who am I to sneer at David? I beg your pardon, Fanny, but it makes me so damned mad and I so powerless to help you! Did you ever try telling her to mind her own business?"

ST. LOUIS MAN IS ARRESTED AS LINGLE SLAYER

Leo Brothers Positively Identified by Witnesses as Murderer

ling of his own men or the suspect. He wished to question Brothers.

Constant surveillance was kept while awaiting a favorable chance to take him. On Dec. 19 Roche learned Brothers was visiting a downtown speakeasy but his operatives voted unanimously against a raid because of the publicity and the possibility of Brothers' escape.

The next day Roche heard Brothers was leaving Chicago for Excelsior, Mo. He ascertained the Pullman berth number and a man in it was seized but proved to be someone else. A checkup showed Brothers was still in his room at the Lake Crest drive apartments.

New Plan for Arrest

Roche then decided to act the next day, Dec. 21, rather than take another chance of losing the quarry. He suddenly remembered he said, that Miss Rose Huebsch, his secretary when he had been with the federal department of justice, was a resident of the Lake Crest establishment.

Miss Huebsch outlined to Roche the plan of the hallways and said that residents of the fourth floor had to use a common telephone in the hall. At 10 o'clock a. m., on Dec. 21 a rap on Brothers' door told him he was wanted on the telephone. He pulled a pair of trousers and shirt over his pajamas to answer it, and as he stepped out of his room, he heard the command of "hands up." He complied. His loaded revolver was discovered on his dresser. Police Sergeant Fred Joyner and Walter Wendt and Roche himself made the arrest. Together with Pathbun Sam Lederer, a business man criminologist, and a reporter had waited all night in Miss Huebsch's room.

Since that time Brothers has been held incommunicado in a hotel suite, being questioned day and night.

Brothers, a chestnut-haired, well-dressed man of 31, served on a submarine chase during the World war. He is a native of Belleville, Ill., near St. Louis. Roche described him as "the toughest man I have ever encountered," adding that "he hasn't a nerve in his system." He has been arrested more than 60 times in St. Louis but never convicted of a crime. His son and highway robbery have been charged against him.

Accused of Slaying

He came here in July, 1929, fleeing from the charge of slaying De Blasi in a St. Louis taxi cab war. Police said he hired himself to gangsters requiring a cool, fearless head.

A single death in a crowded tunnel near Michigan and Randolph streets, leading to a suburban railroad station. His assassin fired a .35 calibre bullet into the back of his head from a snub-nosed pistol and escaped.

His death created a furor such as Chicago had never witnessed, and brought about at least a temporary cleansing of the criminal atmosphere. Public indignation reached a high pitch and a number of police heads resigned, including commissioner William Russell. Rewards totaling $55,000 for the arrest of Lingle's slayer were posted.

A special investigation body headed by Charles F. Rathbun, attorney for the Chicago Tribune, was created. Rathbun revealed that the slayer, although receiving but $85 a day a week, had made $100,000 in a bank aggregating on an average of $30,000 a year. Rathbun figured prominently in Brothers' apprehension.

The investigation brought out that Lingle, who was a friend of Alphonse Capone, gang leader, had been known as a go-between in negotiations by Capone gangsters who were seeking political privileges. Hundreds of men were arrested, including Frankie Foster, who was apprehended in California as the purchaser of the weapon which ballistic experts identified as the one which Lingle's slayer dropped in making his escape. A formal charge of murder is pending against him.

Various gangland developments were reported as possible aftermaths of the Lingle slaying. These included the slaying in a Wisconsin resort of Jack Zuta, henchman of George "Bugs" Moran, northside gang leader and reputed enemy of Capone. Zuta, it was rumored, ordered Lingle's death. He was once held as a suspect, but was released.

NATIONAL SPEAKERS ON FARM WEEK PROGRAM

Madison—(AP)—Speakers of national reputation are listed on the annual Farm and Home Week program to be held at the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture, Feb. 3 to 6, according to the program announced today.

PRINCE LIKES WALTZ BEST AMONG DANCES

London—(AP)—The Prince of Wales likes the waltz above all other forms of dancing.

Johann Strauss, nephew of the waltz king, came to London to attend a ball at which the prince was supposed to be present but did not attend. The next day his royal highness invited Strauss to his residence at York House and discussed the ball and his uncle's waltz music.

Strauss is quoted as saying that the prince received him most cordially and after dancing with a woman partner while Strauss played told him that the waltz is now the only dance that interests him.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU "CAPRICORN"

If January 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 3.30 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10.15 p. m. The adverse periods are from 8 a. m. to 10.30 a. m. and from 6.30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The planetary aspects of January 9th are negative, and nothing of an important nature should be attempted. Only routine work can be done with perfect assurance. A feeling of depression will exist during the day, but, after sunset, conditions change and optimism will prevail.

Children born on this January 9th will be harbingers of contentment. Their nature will be sunny, and, although obedient and winning, they will always want to know "why?" "when?" and "how?" As grown-ups, they are assured of a large measure of success and happiness.

If you were born on a January 9th, you have a strong, self-willed character and most of your failures will be attributable to the fact that you neither heeded advice or signs. On the other hand, you will owe your successes to the indomitable purposefulness of your disposition. You are very observant and have learned more from what you have seen at heart, than from what you have read. Books do not attract you. Human contact, sight-seeing and travel are your teachers, and you are an apt pupil. You rarely stop to wonder why certain conditions prevail. You immediately enquire the "why" and "wherefore" on the spot.

You possess dynamic energy, and this same spirit is shown in your play as it is in your work. Mediocrity is anathema to you. Excellence is your only desideratum. In aiming at what is "offices beyond your reach, you attain a higher standard than if you aimed at what you might feel is strictly within your limitations. Responsibilities never scare you.

Your disposition is, at times, explosive. On the whole, however, you are a congenial companion, a good husband or wife, and a model parent. Association in business with partners would cramp your style, and it is better for you to go it on your own. Your horoscope reveals a dominating personality, but not so severe as to be forbidding.

SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE BORN January 9th:

1—Charles E. A. Gyarre—Southern historian.
2—Nathan S. Davis—physician and educator.
3—Alexander K. McClure—journalist.
4—Lizett W. Reese—poet.
5—Edward Howard Griggs—educator.
6—William Harvey—discoverer of circulation of blood.

POULTRY RAISERS ADVISED TO ADOPT SYSTEM DURING 1931

Set of Rules, For Securing Best Results, Are Listed by Department

A list of New Year's resolutions, prepared by John B. Hayes, poultry expert with the state department of agriculture, has been received by Gus Sell, county agent. Mr. Sell is recommending that Outagamie county poultry breeders adopt the resolutions and follow them carefully throughout the year, thus insuring themselves the best returns for their efforts.

Following are the resolutions: 1. "Chicks can be no better than their parent stock."

Only quality chicks shall I purchase to replace my laying flock. Quality is determined by the parent stock in respect to their size; their production; the type of egg they produce; their freedom from disease and parasites; their ability to produce strong liveable chicks.

To these qualities rather than price shall I turn my attention in placing chick orders.

2. "As the Chick grows so grow the profits."

Early hatched to assure maturity and production on the raising egg market.

Reared in a portable colony house without crowding.

Placed on clean alfalfa or clean range.

Kept on a complete ration during the entire growing period.

Preventing from contracting various habits by limiting the house to 350 chicks as a maximum.

3. "Only good pullets return a profit to me."

Cockhens are a by-product to pullet production. They are to be sold on the earliest profitable market.

Poor pullets are a bill of expense and are likewise discarded. All pullets shall be moved from clean range to confinement in a well cleaned poultry house two weeks before production starts.

4. "As a hen is managed so shall she lay."

Parasites shall be kept under control. A wood preserver applied to the roosts and nests for mites and some equally inexpensive method shall be used for lice.

Adequate mash space shall be supplied.

A good, complete mash mixture shall be constantly available.

Only the best shall be kept in the flock and rigid culling shall reduce the non-profitable birds.

5. "A high price is paid only for a quality product."

To that end shall I endeavor to produce only that which demands a premium. Every effort shall be made to reduce labor to that minimum consistent with the highest possible net income.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

A marriage license was issued Thursday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to Albert Niemuth, route 1, Dale, and Gertrude Otto, route 2, Hortonville.

ABYSSINIA CLAIMS IT GAVE COFFEE TO WORLD

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia—(AP)—

Abyssinia claims to have been the first country to give coffee to the world. The fragrant bean, which is one of the principal exports of Abyssinia, is said to have been first produced in the province of Kaffa, whence the name "coffee."

From Kaffa Arabian slave-traders took the bean to Yemen and Mocha. Abyssinia exports to foreign countries annually something like 12,000,000 pounds of coffee. The finest variety, which comes from the Harar district, can be bought locally for 20 cents a pound.

The coffee plant is abundant throughout Abyssinia. The industry, however, is only poorly developed, and Emperor Haile Selassie is anxious to have American and other expert coffee planters come to Abyssinia and develop the industry.

Fort Myers, Fla. — Perhaps Mrs. Mary Shaw Yoe of Louisville counted on a superstition about the breaking of a mirror. Her will, filed in Florida, bequeathes a mirror to two daughters with the stipulation that if one daughter shall not pay the other half the appraised value of the mirror it shall be cut in two.

BINGHAM FACING HARD JOB FIGHTING CHILD LEGISLATION

Connecticut Lawmaker, However, Has Had Disagreeable Tasks Before

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington — "There is probably no more disagreeable task," says Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, "than a member of a law-making body can take upon himself than that of opposing legislation obviously intended to relieve suffering and to prevent disease."

But Senator Bingham has had disagreeable experiences before. He is the man who was censured by the senate because he got the secretary of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association into the secret tariff deliberations of the Senate Finance Committee. Now his conception of patriotism and public service has caused him to lead the fight against any further extension of maternity and infancy legislation such as was carried on for 10 years under the Sheppard-Towner act. He finds himself cooperating with some of the more rational patriotic states which favorably have regarded the "bolshhevik menace" to American institutions whenever anyone mentions the maternity act or the Children's Bureau which supervised it.

Jones Sponsors Bill

The act expired a year and a half ago. It authorized an annual appropriation of about a million dollars to be paid to states accepting the act and appropriating equivalent sums for health and welfare work among mothers and children. The bill to revive this work is sponsored by Senator Wesley Jones of Washington and has strong active support from many women's organizations. Senator Bingham refers impressively to the fact that in addition to the American Medical Association, the Seneca Falls Association, the National Association of the Women's Patriot are opposed to the measure. The association's reasons are professional, but the other groups contend that such a federal attempt to save the lives of babies and mothers is communistic and hence highly dangerous.

The senator from Connecticut has even gone back to the days of the Spanish Inquisition in his arguments to the senate. It all may seem a trifle far-fetched, but Bingham classes inquisitions and maternity legislation under the head of "legislation regarding the welfare of bodies and souls, religious legislation, summary legislation," which has always failed in the history of the world whenever a good central government has attempted to apply summary matters laws enacted by it.

Of course the gist of Bingham's argument is that maternity and infant hygiene should be left to the states; that in some cases federal subsidies and cooperations are proper and in some cases this one, for instance, not. He raises the cry of "states' rights" and stands the fact that nearly all the states accepted the maternity act and used the money.

Bingham was also the vehicle through which the directors of the Woman's Patriot covered several pages of the Congressional Record with a petition designed to demonstrate that the maternity act, and that was hatched in Moscow, and that Mrs. Florence Kelley, the distinguished social worker who was always a leading proponent of the act, was a Communist. Mrs. Kelley is not a Communist.

The scheme was undoubtedly brought to the United States by Alexandra Kollant in 1915 and 1916," writes Miss Mary G. Breth, president of the board of the National Association of Women's Organizations, "and it is a fact that nearly all the states accepted the maternity act and used the money."

Many States Aided

Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau reports on permanent work resulting from the act in her latest annual report. Twenty-eight states have created or re-created divisions for the act. As a result of aid given through the act 1594 permanent local health, prenatal or combined prenatal and child-health consultation centers were established. County health organizations were widely expanded with that aid. State appropriations were greatly increased, first to match the federal funds and later to continue or expand the program to the act's peak. The Jones bill is likely to be buried in the house and not be permitted to come to a vote in that chamber.

LARGEST AIRPORT

Shreveport, La. — What is said to be the largest airport in the world, covering an area of 15,000 acres, the title of which has been gained by the U. S. War Department. The proposed airport will be the home of the Third Army Group now stationed at Fort Crockett, Texas. It will be some miles long and five miles wide. Buildings to be erected will cost $7,000,000.

SLIGHT RECESSIONS WITH LITTLE BUYING

Chicago—(P)—Buying almost completely absent, prices on the Chicago Stock exchange, however, showed small recessions, slightly former tones appeared around midday, but failed to stimulate general activity.

Chicago Investors, though, was more active, and gained a fraction to 3. National Family Stores also showed increased dealings and at slightly higher prices.

Insull shares were mostly firm around yesterday's closing levels.

WOULD AMEND BANK LAWS TO SPEED MERGERS

Provision of This Nature Would Have Saved Bank of U. S., Is Claim

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CFA)—In urging an amendment to the banking law which would permit prompt mergers of banking institutions in case of emergencies, Joseph A. Broderick, New York state superintendent of banks, in his annual report released for publication at noon today, makes this striking statement:

"Had the present law contained such a provision, the bank of United States would have been merged with one of our strongest institutions and its closing avoided."

It is now generally known that there were negotiations between the officers and directors of the bank of United States and other New York institutions to take over the former and that these conferences continued up to their unsuccessful termination early in the morning of the day that the bank suspended payments. The last effort of this kind was said to have been made in behalf of a subsidiary of one of the large New York banks.

Delay Involved Now
Mr. Broderick points out that, under the present law, mergers to become effective must be approved by stockholders. This involves a great deal of delay and aggravates the situation which has made the merger desirable. A change in the law which is now being considered will permit a merger with the approval of the superintendent of banks and the boards of directors of any two or more banking institutions and makes ample provision for the protection of the interests of stockholders of the merging institutions.

Out of the experiences and studies of the past year, the superintendent of banks finds it desirable that numerous amendments be made to the banking law in New York state. He attaches to his report recommendations for over a score of such changes, of which that relating to emergency mergers is the most important and the one which probably will have the greatest degree of attention in the future. It is well known in banking circles that such mergers have been effected in different parts of the country in the last three months and that through them a great deal of distress to bank depositors and stockholders in banks has been avoided.

Would Segregate Accounts
Other recommendations made by superintendent Broderick that will undoubtedly be brought up in the form of bills before the legislature at Albany this winter, have to do with the segregation of trust accounts in commercial banking institutions in cities with a population of 75,000 and over and placing restrictions on the investment of such trust funds; also the requirement

Peaches to Ask for Divorce

The tangled marital affairs of Frances "Peaches" Browning, left, and Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, right, wealthy real estate broker, again are to figure in the news. Mrs. Browning has taken the first step in an action for absolute divorce by obtaining an order in a

New York court appointing Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, her mother, as her guardian ad litem. Mrs. Browning, still being, at 20, a minor, must bring her action through a guardian. An affidavit said that she had "good and substantial cause of action for a divorce." They were separated in 1927.

that banks and trust companies maintain reserves against time deposits; another to permit the superintendent of banks to order appraisals of real estate properties owned by or mortgaged by institutions by independent and impartial appraisers of recognized standing.

A bill has already been introduced in the New York legislature designed to protect thrift and savings accounts in commercial banks and trust companies. This brings up an issue in banking circles that dates back to 1910, when the superintendent of banks then recommended that banks or trust companies, establishing or maintaining special interest department "for the benefit of the provident and frugal poor" should be required to invest such deposits in general were on the de-covering investment of savings bank funds.

The report notes that between Oct. 1, 1929, and Sept. 30, 1930, when deposits in general were on the decline, there was an increase in the deposits of 143 savings banks under state supervision in New York of $231,567,732. It makes this significant statement: "More recently the public showed a decided preference for this class of institution by placing on deposit with them large sums of funds with-drawn from commercial institutions."

It is understood that one New York savings bank has gained nearly $30,000,000 in deposits since Dec. 1.

NEW STEEL VAULT IN BANK NEARS COMPLETION

Most of the steel for the new vault at Appleton State bank has been erected, and workers are now imbedding the steel work in solid concrete. The vault has been erected in a new brick and concrete block addition constructed in the rear of the present bank building. The vault will be divided into three sections. It is expected workmen will start remodeling the interior of the bank within the next few weeks.

STAINED GLASS WINDOW DESIGNS ON DISPLAY HERE

Collection Included in January Art Exhibit at Lawrence College

Stained glass window designs illustrating the methods used by one of the country's foremost artists in this field are featured in the January art exhibit now featured in the art alcoves of the Lawrence college library. Other collections include facsimile drawings by old masters taken from the Albertina collection and circulated by the American Federation of Arts.

George Pearce Ennis, the artist of the window designs, is a member of the American Artists' professional league, American Watercolor society, and a member of the faculty of the Grand Central school of art, located in the Grand Central terminal, New York city. The Ennis exhibit comes to Lawrence from the Brooklyn museum. It includes 38 pencil drawings, water color sketches, and sketches of cartoons used in designing stained glass windows. All of the designs on display have been used in actual window construction for which Mr. Ennis has been responsible during the last ten years. Appleton art lovers will see in this exhibit the different steps taken by the artist from the preliminary cartoon to the finished water color from which the window is patterned.

The exhibit includes such scenes as "The Nativity," "Christ on the Mount," "The Wise Men," and "The Last Supper." It also includes several scale studies and detailed designs of windows which have been built in some of the newer churches of the country.

The fascimile drawings by old masters from the Albertina collection include representative types of the Italian, Flemish, Dutch, German and French schools. All the copies are done from the originals by a special process.

Representing the Italian school are the works of such masters as Fra Angelico, whose "Crucifix" is notable, Fra Bartolomeo, da Vinci, Raphael and Titoretto. Flemish and Dutch artists are represented by Rembrandt's "The Storm," Ruben's "Shepherdess" and Teniers' "Drinker." Durer with a score of productions typifies the work of the German school. His "Armed Knight" and "Emperor Maximilian" are included in the exhibit. Chardin and Poussin with his "Annunciation" represent the French school. Added to the exhibit is a collection of 1930 Christmas cards taken from a private collection.

The exhibits are open to the public and will be on display during January. The copies of old masters are the only ones for sale.
